

PASSING THE TORCH
DOES HIGHER EDUCATION
FOR THE DISADVANTAGED PAY OFF
ACROSS THE GENERATIONS?

PAUL ATTEWELL AND DAVID E. LAVIN

IN COLLABORATION WITH
THURSTON DOMINA AND TANIA LEVEY

A Volume in the American Sociological Association's Rose Series in Sociology

Russell Sage Foundation • New York

Contents

ABOUT THE AUTHORS		xv
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS		xvii
	i
CHAPTER 1	Passing the Torch: An Overview	1
CHAPTER 2	Thirty Years Later: Educational Attainments	15
CHAPTER 3	How Families Fared: The College Payoff	35
CHAPTER 4	Breaking the Cycle of Disadvantage: Maternal Education and Children's Success	57
CHAPTER 5	How College Changes a Mother's Parenting and Affects Her Children's Educational Outcomes	79
CHAPTER 6	Dads and Neighborhoods: Their Contributions to Children's Success	126
CHAPTER 7	Mass Higher Education and Its Critics	154
CHAPTER 8	The Bottom Line: The Difference That Open Access Makes	185
APPENDIX A	Data Sources and Methods	202
APPENDIX B	Additional Tables	214
NOTES		225
REFERENCES		241
INDEX		259