Contents

List of tables and figures vii
Notes on contributors viii

one Policy analysis in Germany: past, present and future of the discipline
  Sonja Blum and Klaus Schubert 1

two HistoVical forerunners of policy analysis in Germany
  Klaus von Beyme 19

three The development of policy analysis in Germany: practical problems and theoretical concepts
  Werner Jann and Bastion Jantz 29

four Professionalisation of policy analysis in Germany: on the way or faraway?
  Sylvia Pannowitsch 45

five Methods and study types in German policy analysis
  Volker Schneider, Claudius Wagemann and Frank Janning 59

six Policy analysis in the German-speaking countries: common traditions, different cultures, in Germany, Austria and Switzerland Nils C. Bandelow, Fritz Sager and Peter Biegelbauer 75

seven Federal government: permanent in-house capacities – life within the 'apparatus'
  Josef Schmid and Daniel Buhr 91

eight Statist policy advice: policy analysis in the German Landers Roland Sturm and Markus M. Müller 105

nine Local policy processes: economisation, professionalisation, democratisation
  Jdrg Bogumil and Claudia Ruddat 119

ten Federal government in Germany: temporary, issue-related policy advice
  Rolf G. Heinze 135

eleven Parliamentary in-house research services and policy-making in Germany: Sancho Panza or David's sling?
  Stefan Marschall 149

twelve The German Bundestag and external expertise: policy orientation as counterweight to deparlimentarisation?
  Sven T. Siefken and Suzanne S. Schuttemeyer 161

thirteen From hand to mouth: parties and policy-making in Germany
  Timo Grunden 181

fourteen Policy analysis by trade unions and business associations in Germany
  Wolfgang Schroeder and Samuel Greef 197

fifteen Public interest groups and policy analysis: a push for evidence-based policy-making?
  Christoph Strunck 217

sixteen Think tanks: bridging beltway and ivory tower?
  Sven Jochem 231
seventeen Non-university research institutes: between basic research, knowledge transfer to the public and policy analysis
    Martin Thunert

eighteen The role of policy analysis in teaching political science at German universities Renate Reiter and Annette Elisabeth Toller

nineteen Academics and policy analysis: the tension between epistemic and practical concerns
    Renate Mayntz

Index