

Democratic Transitions in the Arab World

---

Edited by

Ibrahim Elbadawi and Samir Makdisi

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

---

List of Figures	page ix
List of Tables	xi
List of Contributors	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
Introduction and Summary	1
IBRAHIM ELBADAWI AND SAMIR MAKDISI
Part I Conceptual and Cross-Country Perspectives	11
1. Explaining Democratic Transitions in the Arab World	13
IBRAHIM ELBADAWI AND SAMIR MAKDISI
2. Overcoming Induced Insecurities: Stabilising Arab Democracies after the Spring	75
ABDELWAHAB EL-AFFENDI
Part II Case Studies: Successful, Protracted and Painful Transitions	105
3. Tunisia: The Prospects for Democratic Consolidation	107
MONGI BOUGHZALA AND SAOUSSEN BEN ROMDHANE
4. Egypt: The Protracted Transition from Authoritarianism to Democracy and Social Justice	133
NOHA EL MIKAWY, MOHAMED MOHIEDDIN AND SARAH EL ASHMAOUY
5. Syria: The Painful Transition towards Democracy	184
RAED SAFADI AND SIMON NEAIME
6. Kuwaiti Democracy: Elusive or Resilient?	209
IBRAHIM ELBADAWI AND ATIF KUBURSI

viii	Contents
7.	Lebanon: Sectarian Consociationalism and the Transition to a Fully Fledged Democracy SAMIR MAKDISI AND YOUSSEF EL KHALIL	240
8.	Sudan: Transition to Democracy after 2011, a Dismembered State Navigating Uncertainties ATTA ELBATTAHANI	269
	Part III Concluding Observations	305
9.	Resistance to and Prospects for Democracy IBRAHIM ELBADAWI AND SAMIR MAKDISI	307
	Bibliography	313
	Index	334