Political Thinkers

From Socrates to the Present

Edited by
David Boucher and Paul Kelly

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Detailed contents

Introduction 1

Introduction 1
The study of political thought 2
Political thinkers: an overview 9
Perennial problems 14
What is a classic text? 16

PART I The Polis

2 The Sophists 23

Introduction: the Sophists and their significance 24
Protagoras and the politics of the community: the indispensability of justice 26
Thrasymachus and the politics of the individual: the disadvantage of justice 30
Antiphon and further doubts about justice 33
Conclusion: the Sophists and Plato 36

3 Socrates 40

Who is Socrates? 41
Socratic paradoxes and the elenchus 44
The trial of Socrates 46
Reconciliation and political philosophy 49
Socrates and Athenian democracy 51

4 Plato 54

An overview of the Republic 56
Forms and the good-itself 58
The structure of the kallipolis 61
Specialization 62
The lies of the rulers 63
Private life and private property 65
Invalids, infants, slaves 66
Censorship of the arts 68
Freedom and autonomy 70

5 Aristotle 73

Aristotle's view of human nature 76
The Nicomachean Ethics JJ
The Politics 81
Aristotle and contemporary political theory 88

PART II The two kingdoms

St Augustine 95
Introduction: Augustine and political theory 97
The self 98
Social life 101
War and peace 104
Conclusion 106

Aquinas 108
Introduction 110
The natural and supernatural orders 112
Theory of law 113
Theory of government 115
The case of tyranny 119
Temporal and spiritual power 120
Just war theory 121
Conclusion 122

Marsiglio of Padua
Introduction 125
The Defender of Peace 126
Principles of secular theory 129
Ecclesiology 133
Later writings on empire and church 134

Machiavelli 139
The many faces of Machiavelli 141
Setting the context 144
Hostility to metaphysics 147
Empirical method 150
Political realism 153
Conclusion 157

PART III The rationalist Enlightenment

10 Hobbes 163
Introduction 164
Three treatises 167
Solipsism and egoism 170
• Contractarianism 172
Agency and authorization 173
The non-resistance compact between subjects 174
De facto authority 176

11 Locke 181
Introduction: Locke as a liberal theorist 183
Locke's use of the social contract idea 184

Foundations: equality and natural law 188
Property, economy, and disagreement 190
Limited government, toleration, and the rule of law 192
Conclusion: Locke's legacy 196

12 Hume 198

Introduction 200
Experience and knowledge 201
Facts and values 203
Moral judgement 204
Natural and artificial virtues 205
Justice and conventions 206
Property and justice 207
Government 209
Was Hume a utilitarian? 213
Hume's enduring legacy 214

13 Montesquieu 217

Introduction: Montesquieu as a critic of despotism 219
Early writings 221
The separation of powers 222
Law and the concept of general spirits 224
The theory of the three forms of government 226
Politics and history 228
Political liberty: the liberty of the citizen' 230
Conclusion 232

14 Rousseau 235

Introduction 238
Totalitarian, liberal, or republican? 239
Rousseau's state of nature 240
Rousseau's criticisms of Hobbes 240
Natural law and natural rights 244
The problem of freedom 246
Freedom and dependence 249

15 The Federalist Papers 253

Introduction: context and background 255
Arguments about 'republican' government 257
Arguments about size and extent 258
'Republic' redefined 260
Competing conceptions of representation 260
Virtue versus corruption 264
Standing army versus citizen militia 265
Missing: a bill of rights 266
Conclusion 267

16 Wollstonecraft 270

Introduction 271
Nature, sentiment, and reason 273

Men's rights and women's freedom 276
Private virtue and public order 279
Lovers, parents, and citizens 281
Wollstonecraft and democracy 283

17 Tocqueville 288

The appeal of Tocqueville 290
Sustaining civic cultures: American lessons 290
Creating freedom in history's shadow: French lessons 297
Democracy's need for stabilizing beliefs 301

18 Bentham 307

Psychological hedonism 309
Obligations and rules 312
Sovereigntyand law 315
Representative democracy 318
Bentham and liberalism 321

19 J. S. Mill on liberty 324

The philosophy of swine 327
Utilitarian liberalism 330
The illiberal liberal 334
Conclusion 341

20 J. S. Mill on the Subjection of Women 343

Introduction 345
Intellectual and political context 346
The Subjection of Women 348
Mill's significance to contemporary feminists 355
Concluding thoughts 357

PART iv The counter-Enlightenment

21 Burke 363

Interpretations of Burke 365
Sovereignty and constitutionalism 372
Political obligation 375
The community of states 376
Colonialism 379

22 Hegel 383

Introduction 386
Freedom 387
Spirit and dialectic 391
From property to state 395
Hegel's significance 401

23 The early Marx 404

Introduction 405

Human essence and its alienation 407
The critique of the modern state 411
The communist alternative 414
Conclusion 416

24 Marx and Engels 419

Introduction 421
The Manifesto of the Communist Party 422
Ideology 423
The critique of political economy 424
'Use value' and 'exchange value' 426
The 'fetishism of commodities' 427
'Forces' and 'relations' of production 428
History 430
Revolutionary politics and the state 432
Engels's contribution to Marxism 433

25 Nietzsche 436

Introduction: God is dead and we have killed him 438
The genealogical approach 441
Good and bad; good and evil 443
The victory of slave morality: bad conscience 445
The ascetic ideal and the Nihilism of modern secularism 448
The revaluation of values and the politics of difference: the friend and the enemy 451

PART v The twentieth century: four approaches

26 Oakeshott 459

Introduction 461
Philosophical idealism as the background theory 461
Interpretations of Oakeshott 463
Theory and practice 466
The rationalist in politics 467
Modes of association 470
Politics and law 476
Conclusion 478

27 Habermas 480

Early writings (prior to The Theory of Communicative Action) 482
The Theory of Communicative Action 483
Between Facts and Norms and later political essays 485

28 Rawls 496

Introduction 499
The first principle: equal basic liberties 500
The second principle: distributive economic justice 501
The original position 503
Some problems in A Theory of Justice 506

Rawls's new theory • 507
Overlapping consensus 508
The law of peoples 511

29 Foucault 516

Introduction: critique of the present 518
History of systems of thought • 520
Power and freedom 524
Governmentality 526
Subjectivity and ethics 529
Conclusion 531

Index 537