

Structural Reform in Open Economies:

A Road to Success?

Edited by

Peter A.G. van Bergeijk

De Nederlandsche Bank N. V. and Erasmus University Rotterdam

Jarig van Sinderen

Netherlands Ministry of Economic Affairs and Erasmus University Rotterdam

Ben A. Vollaard

Netherlands Ministry of Economic Affairs

Edward Elgar

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	ix
List of Contributors	xi
Preface by Per Callesen	xiii
1. Structural Reform: The Issues Peter A.G. van Bergeijk, Jarig van Sinderen and Ben A. Vollaard	1
PART I: EXPERIENCES WITH STRUCTURAL REFORM
2. Reform and Experience in New Zealand VivB.Hall	17
3. The Policy Experience of Structural Reform in the Netherlands Jarig van Sinderen and Ben A. Vollaard	45
4. Structural Reform in the Netherlands and New Zealand: Two Roads to Success? Willelm Adema and Dirk Pilot	65
PART II: MODELLING STRUCTURAL REFORM
5. Gains from Improved Sectoral Efficiency in Norway Erling HolmOy	99
6. A Dynamic CGE Analysis of the Danish 1993 Tax Reform Act Martin Knudsen, Lars Haagen Pedersen, Toke Ward Petersen, Peter Stephensen and Peter Trier	123
PART III: MEASURING STRUCTURAL REFORM
7. A Miracle or Not? Recent Trends in the Growth Performance of the Dutch Economy Bart van Ark and Jakob de Haan	157
8. Productivity, Wage Moderation, and Specificity in Factor Inputs Eric J. Bartelsman	181

References	•	205
Author Index		217
Subject Index	'	221