

How Russia Is Not Ruled

Reflections on Russian Political Development

ALLEN C. LYNCH

University of Virginia

Contents

Acknowledgments	page xi
Introduction	I
I. On the Importance of the State in the Russian Setting	I
II. The Argument of the Book	10
III. The Organization of the Book	16
1 Historical Patterns of Russian Political Development	18
I. The Argument	18
II. Specification of Terms	20
III. A European Pattern of Political Development	21
IV. Conditions Governing Russian Success	24
V. The Distinctiveness of Russia's Patrimonial Absolutism	31
VI. The Facts of Life	36
VII. Implications	37
VIII. Costs of Security and Costs of Production	41
2 Soviet Legacies for Post-Soviet Russia	47
I. Introduction	47
II. The Argument	49
III. Economic Legacies: Isolation and Relative Backwardness	51
IV. Militarization of the Economy	52
V. Social Legacies: Fragmentation and Exhaustion	54
VI. Social Organization and Political Regime	58
VII. Tidal Waves of Violence	66
VIII. Positive Legacies	70
IX. The Legacy of Soviet Collapse: Stealing the State	73
X. Russia's Path-Dependent Matrix	82

3	The 1990s in Russia: A New Time of Troubles?	85
	I. Introduction	85
	II. Worst-Case Scenarios Failed to Occur	86
	III. Another Russian Experiment	87
	IV. The Russian Macroeconomy	88
	V. Paths Taken and Not	92
	VI. Social Aspects	99
	VII. Russia's Silent Scream	107
	VIII. How do Russians Get By at All?	108
	IX. The Military	111
	X. The Condition of Russian Science	117
	XI. The Rise of Post-Soviet Russian Crime	121
	XII. Conclusion	127
4	Russia's "Neopatrimonial" Political System, 1992–2004	128
	I. Introduction	128
	II. General Prerequisites of Democracy	131
	III. Specific Tensions in Postcommunist Reform Processes	132
	IV. The Early Course of Reform	134
	V. Foreign Reinforcements	137
	VI. Russia's Political Institutions	140
	VII. Russia's Electoral History	146
	VIII. The "Pays Reel": The System of Presidential Authority	152
	IX. From Yeltsin to Putin	155
	X. Putin and the Consolidation of Russia's Neopatrimonial System	159
	XI. Conclusion	163
5	The Russian 1990s in Comparative Perspective	166
	I. Introduction	166
	II. Institutions and Values	170
	III. Russia in the Postcommunist Context	173
	IV. Conclusions on Russia Compared to East-Central Europe	183
	V. Russia Compared to the G-7 World	186
	VI. Other Points of Comparison	189
	VII. Conclusions	193
6	What Future for Russia? Liberal Economics and Illiberal Geography	195
	I. Introduction	195
	II. Structural or Conjunctural Factors in Russia's Favor?	198
	III. Infrastructure, Asset Depreciation, and Direct Capital Investment	201
	IV. The Decision to Invest	205

V. The Influence of Late-Soviet Developments on Post-Soviet Prospects	205
VI. Long-Term Consequences of Russia's Decade-Long Depression	208
VII. After the Crash	210
VIII. Enabling Conditions of Russian Recovery: Politics versus Geography?	220
IX. Conclusions	234
Conclusions	239
I. Summing Up	239
II. Twelve Theses on the Influence of Domestic Factors on Russia's World Role	243
Select Bibliography	257
Index	269