

Japanese Economic History

1930-1960

Volume I

Selected and with a new introduction by Janet Hunter

Japan's Economic Recovery

G. C. Allen

London and New York

Contents

Chapter	Page
PREFACE	ix
I. Economic Development in the 1930's	1
II. The Course of Economic Recovery After 1945	16
III. The Reconstruction of the Monetary and Banking Systems	31
IV. Agriculture, Forestry, and the Fisheries	51
V. Industrial Reconstruction	70
VI. The Textile Industries	80
VII. The Engineering Industries	93
VIII. Iron and Steel, Fuel and Power, and Some Miscellaneous Trades	110
IX. The ^aibatsu in the Post-War Economy	127
X. Industrial Relations and the Rise of Trade Unions	145
XI. The Problem of Foreign Trade	163
XII. Achievements and Prospects	181
STATISTICAL APPENDIX
1. Population	191
2. Industrial Distribution of Occupied Population	191
3. Agricultural Employment	192
4. Indices of Agricultural and Fishery Production	192
5. Indices of Industrial Production	193
6. Indices of Production of Certain Manufactured Goods	193
7. Output of Certain Industrial Products	194
8. Textile Yarn and Fibre Production	194
9. Textile Fabrics Production	195
10. Textile Equipment	195
11. Changes in Structure of Manufacturing Industry	196

12. Size Distribution of Establishments in Manufacturing Industry	197
13. Volume and Value of Foreign Trade	197
14. The Structure of the Export Trade	198
15. The Structure of the Import Trade	199
16. Changes in Markets and Sources of Imports	199
17. Textile Exports	200
18. Transport	200
19. Wholesale Price Index	201
20. Index of Real Wages in Manufacturing Industry	201
21. Monthly Wages According to Size of Factory in 1954	202
22. Index of Household Consumption	202
23. American Aid and Special Procurement	203
24. Foreign Currency Holdings	203
25. Public Finance	204
26. Expenditure on Gross Domestic Product	205
SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY	206
INDEX	211

Japanese Economic History

1930-1960

Volume II

Selected and with a new introduction by Janet Hunter

Japan's Economy in War and Reconstruction

Jerome B. Cohen

London and New York

CONTENTS

FOREWORD.....	vii
AUTHOR'S PREFACE.....	xi
1. A DECADE OF PREPARATION.....	1
The Pattern of Control, 10; Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade, 12; Control of Capital and Credit, 16; The Role of the Bank of Japan, 20; Production and Distribution Control, 22; The "New Economic Structure," 28; The "Co-Prosperity" Sphere, 33; The Opportunity, 46.
2. WAR YEARS—OVERVIEW.....	48
The Administrative Structure, 58; The Eidans, 66; The Drive for More Effective Control, 69; The Munitions Ministry, 74; Financing the War, 85; The Trend of Prices, 97; Consolidation and Rationalization, 100; Causes of the Debacle, 104.
3. PILLARS OF THE ECONOMY.....	110
Steel, 114 ; Oil, 133; Light Metals, 147 ; Coal, 160; Electric Power, 172; Chemicals, 180.
4. THE TOOLS OF WAR.....	193
Machine Tools, 201; Aircraft, 208; Ordnance, 233; Motor Vehicles, 246; Ships, 250.
5. MOBILIZING MANPOWER.....	271
The Nature of the Controls, 276; The Labor "Front", 282; Population, Civilian Labor and Armed Forces, 287; Labor in Agriculture, 293; Indus- trial Labor Force, 296; The Labor Mobilization Plans, 304; Conscription, 317; Wages, 327; Hours, 340; Productivity and Efficiency, 347.
C. THE CIVILIAN SECTOR.....	353
Food, 364; Clothing and Textiles, 387; Shelter, 406; Miscellaneous Civilian Supplies, 410.
7. THE ECONOMY UNDER OCCUPATION.....	417
The Reparations Problem, 419; Dissolution of the Zaibatsu, 427; Labor Reform, 436; Land Reform, 442; The Trend of the Economy, 447; Infla- tion, 448; Production, 468; Foreign Trade, 492; Prospects for Recovery, 501.
APPENDIX: CHARTS 1-17.....	505
INDICES.....	525

Japanese Economic History

1930-1960

Volume III

Selected and with a new introduction by Janet Hunter

Eastern Industrialization and its Effect on the West

G. E. Hubbard

London and New York

CONTENTS

SYNOPSIS.	ix
INTRODUCTION.	xu
I. COMPETITION IN WORLD MARKETS	i
II. JAPAN.	45
§ I. BRIEF HISTORY OF JAPANESE INDUSTRIALIZATION	45
§ 2. PRESENT CONDITIONS: (a) National policy in its effects upon industrial development; (A) Distinctive features of industrial organization, finance, and labour; (c) Population, raw materials, and food-supplies	6 4
§ 3. JAPAN'S INDUSTRIAL FUTURE	' 5 ²
III. CHINA.181
§ I. BRIEF HISTORY OF CHINESE INDUSTRIALIZATION	181
§ 2. GOVERNMENT POLICY TOWARDS INDUSTRY: (a) National Industrial Policy; (A) General characteristics of labour and industry; (c) Chinese and foreign-owned factories	1 9 8
§ 3. CHINA'S INDUSTRIAL FUTURE	228
IV. INDIA.	240
§ I. BRIEF HISTORY OF INDIAN INDUSTRIALIZATION	24<3
§ 2. PRESENT CONDITIONS: (<J) The organization and finance of large-scale industries and the role of foreign capital; (A) The industrial policy of the Government; (c) The cotton mill, and iron and steel industries; (</) Characteristics and problems of industrial labour	252
§ 3. INDIA'S INDUSTRIAL FUTURE: (a) India's competitive position and industrial potentialities; (A) Political factors affecting India's industrial future	292
V. GREAT BRITAIN.307
§ I. HISTORICAL NOTE ON BRITISH INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT IN THE NINETEENTH CENTURY	3°7
§ 2. POST-WAR CONDITIONS IN THE EXPORTING INDUSTRIES.	313
§ 3. REACTIONS ON THE SOCIAL STRUCTURE: UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE 'DISTRESSED AREAS*'	- 3 3 4

VI. THE EFFECTS OF EASTERN INDUSTRIALIZATION UPON TRADE RELATIONSHIPS IN THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH.	346
CONCLUSIONS: an economist's comment, by T. E. Gregory .	363
BIBLIOGRAPHY.	372
INDEX	379

Japanese Economic History 1930-1960

Volume IV

Selected and with a new introduction by Janet Hunter

Industrial Japan

Compiled and translated by the
Research Staff of the Secretariat,
Institute of Pacific Relations

London and New York

CONTENTS

	PACE
PREFACE	v
I. THE ROLE OF WAR IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF JAPANESE CAPITALISM	i
II. THE WARTIME CAPACITY AND ADAPTABILITY OF THE JAPANESE ECONOMY	15
III. THE REORGANIZATION OF THE JAPANESE ECONOMY: FACTORS AND TRENDS	25
IV. JAPANESE CONTINENTAL POLICY AND THE EAST ASIA ECONOMIC BLOC	36
V. SOME BASIC PROBLEMS OF ASIATIC CONTINENTAL DEVELOP- MENT	43
VI. THE QUESTION OF CAPITAL FOR THE ECONOMIC DEVELOP- MENT OF CHINA	55
VII. CONTINENTAL MARKETS FOR JAPANESE HEAVY INDUSTRY..	65
VIII. RECENT CHANGES IN THE COMPOSITION OF JAPANESE INDUSTRY	72
IX. THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE MACHINE-TOOL INDUSTRY IN JAPAN	83
X. THE IMPORTANCE OF LABOR-POWER IN MECHANICAL INDUSTRY	93
XI. RECENT CHANGES IN LABOR EMPLOYMENT IN JAPANESE INDUSTRY	99
XII. THE EFFECTS OF INDUSTRIAL CHANGES ON JAPANESE FOREIGN TRADE	105
XIII. FROM SEMI-WARTIME TO WARTIME CONTROL OF THE IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY	114
XIV. SOME PROBLEMS IN THE WARTIME CONTROL OF THE COAL INDUSTRY	132
XV. THE "NATIONAL POLICY" COMPANIES: A NEW FACTOR IN JAPANESE INDUSTRIAL LIFE	144
XVI. RECENT ACTIVITIES OF JAPANESE CAPITAL IN CHINA ..	155
XVII. WARTIME CHANGES IN SINO-JAPANESE TRADE AND GROWTH OF THE YEN-BLOC TRADE.	168
XVIII. THE POSITION OF NORTH CHINA IN SINO-JAPANESE ECONOMIC RELATIONS	178
XIX. THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM IN MANCHOUKUO	217
XX. JAPANESE INVESTMENT IN MANCHOUKUO	227

Japanese Economic History 1930-1960

Volume V

Selected and with a new introduction by Janet Hunter

Industrial Labour in Japan

International Labour Office

London and New York

CONTENTS

PREFACE	Page HI
-------------------	------------

PART I

INTRODUCTORY

CHAPTER I : The Land and the People.1
Geographical and Political.1
The People of Japan.3
Productive Population.4
Urban Concentration of the Population.6
Population and Food.7
CHAPTER II : Historical Background.10
The Feudal Economy.10
The Imperial Regime.15
CHAPTER III : Rise of Industrialism.18
Development of Industrial Employment.18
CHAPTER IV : Economic Structure of Modern Japan	29
Raw Materials.	29
Cocoon	29
Cotton.	31
Coal.	31
Oil.	32
Iron.	32
Copper.	33
Miscellaneous.	33
Shortage of Raw Materials and Foreign Trade.	35
Capital.	36
Communications.	38
Railway and Road Transport.	38
Shipping	39
Power Resources.	40

PART II

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

I : The Development of the Problem of Industrial Relations	43
Influx of New Ideas.	43
The " Family System " on Trial.	46

	Page
Increase of Labour Disputes.	48
Nature of Labour Disputes.	53
Wages.	56
Hours of Work.	57
Collective Bargaining and the Right of Association	58
Discharge Allowances.	59
Other Causes of Disputes.	60
Frequency of Disputes in Various Industries.	61
Influence of Trade Unions on Labour Disputes.	62
Tactics in the Conduct of Disputes.	64
Results of Disputes.	66
Infringement of Law during Labour Disputes.	67
 CHAPTER II : Employers' Organisations.	 70
Importance of Organisations of Capital.	70
Craft Guilds and the Early Formation of Legal Associations	73
Free Associations.	76
Kon-wa Kai , or " Friendly Talk Societies ".	77
Concerted Action among Employers.	78
Account of Leading Employers' Organisations :'
The Japan Industrial Club (Nihon Kogyo Club).	81
The Japan Cotton Spinners' Association (Dai Nihon Boseki Rengo Kai).	82
The Japan Shipowners' Association (Nihon Senshu Kyokai)	83
The Federation of Coal-Mine Owners (Sekilan Kogyo Rengo Kai).	84
The Osaka Industrial Society (Osaka Kogyo Kai)	84
The Industrial Friendship Society (Koshin Kai).	85
 CHAPTER III : Trade Unionism.	 86
Origins and Development	86
The Older Guilds.	87
Early Trade Unions :
The First Period (1880-1894).	88
The Second Period (1895-1900).	89
The Third Period (1900-1912).	91
Rise of Modern Trade Unions (1912-1919).	91
Period of Consolidation (1920-1924).	93
Period of Political Influences (1925-1931).	97
 CHAPTER IV : Trade Unionism (continued).	 99
Tendencies and Structure of Japanese Trade Unions.	99
Right Wing Unions.	104
The General Federation of Japanese Labour (Nihon Rodo "Sodomei).	105
The Japan Seamen's Union (Nihon Kaikin Kumiai)	106
The Federation of Naval Arsenal Workers' Unions (Kaigun Rodd Kumiai Renmei).	107
The Federation of Workers in State Undertakings (Kangyo Rodo Sodomei).	107
Mercantile Marine Officers' Association (Kaikin Kyokai)	107
Other Right Wing Unions.	108

	Page
Left Wing Unions.	.108
National Free Federation of Trade Unions (Zenkoku Rodo Kumiai Jiyu Rengokai).	.109
General Council of Japanese Trade Unions (Nihon Rodo Kumiai So-Hyogi Kai).	.110
Centre Group.	.110
National Alliance of Trade Unions (Zenkoku Rodo Kumiai Domei).	.111
Confederation of Japanese Trade Unions (Nihon Rodo Kumiai Sorengo).	.111
Japanese Trade Unions and Political Action.	.112
Trade Union Statistics.	.115

CHAPTER V : Industrial Conciliation 118

The Labour Disputes Conciliation Act.	.118
Field of Application.	.119
Conciliation Boards.	.120
Administrative Machinery.	.123
Results of the Application of the Act.	.123
Works Committees.	.126
The Joint Maritime Board (Kaiji Kyodo Kai).	.129
The Kyocho Kai , or " Harmonisation Society " .	.131

PART III

LABOUR LEGISLATION AND ADMINISTRATION

CHAPTER I : Labour Legislation 135

Labour Legislation before 1919.	.135
Existing Labour Legislation.	.140
Factories.	.140
Mines .	.144
Seafaring.	.144
Other Employments.	.145
Employment Exchanges.	.146
Social Insurance.	.146
Trade Unionism .	.146
Miscellaneous .	.147

CHAPTER II : Labour Administration 149

The Bureau of Social Affairs.	.150
Other Central Authorities for Labour Administration.	.154
Local Administrative Authorities.	.154
Inspection of Factory and Mining Labour.	.156

PART IV

CONDITIONS OF WORK

CHAPTER I : Recruitment, Employment and Discharge of Workers 159

Recruitment159
Admission to Employment and Apprenticeship165
Works Regulations.	.168
Discharge of Workers.	.170

CONTENTS

	Page
CHAPTER II : Hours of Work, Night Work and Rest Periods	174
Factories	174
Hours of Work	174
Overtime	179
Breaks and Rest Days	181
Night Work	185
Mines	186
Hours of Work	186
Overtime	188
Breaks and Rest Days	188
Night Work	190
Transport and Postal, Telegraph and Telephone Services	191
CHAPTER III : Wages and Cost of Living.	192
Legal Provisions	192
Current Methods of Wage Payment	19.
Actual Wages	200
Factories	201
Mines	204
Transport and Postal, Telegraph and Telephone Services	205
Wages and Cost of Living	206
Family Budgets	212
CHAPTER IV : Industrial Accidents, Accident Compensation and Mutual Aid.	224
Industrial Accidents	224
Accidents in Factories	224
Accidents in Mines	227
Accident Compensation	229
Legal Provisions	229
Compensation Paid	233
Additional Allowances	233
Mutual Aid Societies	236
State-Owned Undertakings	236
Privately-Owned Undertakings	239
CHAPTER V : Health and Safety of Workers.	243
Health Conditions in Factories and Mines	243
Sickness among Factory Workers	243
Sickness among Mining Workers	247
Occupational Diseases and Compensation	248
Health Legislation	253
Dormitory Regulations	265
Special Protection of Young Workers	256
Safety Legislation	256
Development of Safety Regulations	256
Safety Regulations for Factories	257
Safety Regulations for Mines	258
Special Safety Regulations for Coal-Mines	260
Special Regulations for Dormitories	261
Special Protection of Women and Young Persons	261
Popular Safety Movements	262

	Page
CHAPTER VI : Social Insurance.	269
Origins of Health Insurance in Japan	269
Provisions of the Health Insurance Act	270
Working of the Health Insurance Act	274
Insurance Institutions.	274
Organisation of Medical Benefit	275
Finance.	278
Preventive Measures and Supervision.	279
Attitude of Employers, Workers and Doctors.	279
Seamen's Insurance.	283
Post Office Insurance and Annuities.	285

PART V

UNEMPLOYMENT AND MIGRATION

CHAPTER I : Unemployment.	289
Extent of Unemployment	289
National Unemployment Census	291
Monthly Estimates of Unemployment	292
Legislative and Other Measures to Deal with Unemployment	293
Unemployment Relief.	293
Unemployment Relief for Seamen.	296
Public Employment Exchanges.	296
Seamen's Employment Exchanges.	300
Fee-Charging Employment Exchanges.	302
CHAPTER II : Migration.	303
Development of Japanese Emigration.	303
Legislative and Other Measures for the Encouragement of Emi- gration.	307
Extent of Emigration.	310
Internal Migration and Colonial Settlement	312

PART VI

WORKERS' WELFARE, EDUCATION AND CO-OPERATION

CHAPTER I : Welfare.	315
Welfare Measures In and Around the Factory.	316
Hygiene and Food.	316
Dormitory System.	319
Medical Treatment	323
Education and Recreation.	324
Company Shops.	325
Bonuses and Savings.	325
Welfare Funds and Societies.	329
CHAPTER II : Workers' Education.	333
General Education.	334
Social and Adult Education	337

	Page
Workers' Education Organised by Private Institutions or by Employers and Workers.	339
Private Institutions.	339
Employers.	341
Workers.	343
CHAPTER HI : Co-operation	349
The Law and Co-operation.	349
Development of Co-operative Societies.	351
General.	351
Co-operative Credit Societies.	354
Co-operative Selling or Marketing Societies.	355
Co-operative Buying Societies.	356
Co-operative Stores.	357
Co-operative Utility Societies.	358
Federations of Co-operative Societies.	360
Workers' Co-operative Societies.	361
CONCLUSION.	369

APPENDICES

I. Conspectus of Labour Legislation	383
II. Bibliography.	401

Japanese Economic History 1930-1960

Volume VI

Selected and with a new introduction by Janet Hunter

Agricultural Development in Modern Japan

Edited by Takekazu Ogura

London and New York

CONTENTS

Acknowledgment	i
Preface to the Original	v
PART I AGRICULTURE AND ECONOMY.	1
Chapter 1 The Meiji Restoration and Agriculture (1868-1912).	3
Chapter 2 Japanese Agriculture from the Pre-World War I Period to the Post-Depression Period of the Showa Era (1913-40).	27
Chapter 3 Wartime Japanese Agriculture (1941-45)	46
Section 1. Progress of the war economy and the decline in agricultural productivity.	46
Section 2. Food economy and changes in rural com- munities.	54
Chapter 4 Economic Rehabilitation and Agriculture after the War (1946-54).	63
Section 1. Economic rehabilitation and land reform	63
Section 2. Development of agriculture and improvement of the farm household economy.	73
Section 3. Democratization of rural organization.	84
Chapter 5 Agricultural Problems in a Rapidly Grow- ing Economy (1955-62).	88
Section 1. High rate of economic growth and agricul- tural problems.	88

Section 2.	The development of commercial agriculture and changes in the agricultural structure ...	93
PART II AGRICULTURE AND LEGISLATION.		105
Chapter 6	Introduction and Summary Review of Agricultural Policies in Japan.	107
Section 1.	Agricultural administration in the immediate post-restoration period.	107
Section 2.	The development of agricultural administration in the Meiji period.	110
Section 3.	Agricultural administration in the Taisho and Showa periods.	111
Section 4.	Agricultural administration during the War	113
Section 5.	Agricultural administration after the War	115
Chapter 7	Modernization of the Land Tenure System	119
Section 1.	Breakdown of the feudal land tenure system and the rise of private landowners.	120
Section 2.	The increasing influence of landowners and land legislation.	125
Section 3.	Wavering of the power of landowners, increasing tenancy disputes and land legislation	127
Section 4.	The decline of the importance of landlords and land legislation.	134
Section 5.	Collapse of large landowners' influence.	144
Chapter 8	Measures for the Encouragement, Control, and Protection of Agriculture.	149
Section 1.	The policy for the encouragement of agriculture in the early Meiji Era.	149
Section 2.	Agricultural improvements from the middle period of the Meiji Era, and the authoritarian agricultural administration.	159
Section 3.	The development of protective policy for agriculture.	167
Section 4.	Wartime efforts for production increases of foodstuffs and the keynote of postwar agricultural policy.	174
Chapter 9	Food Problem and Rice Policies.	181
Section 1.	Food economy in the Meiji Era	181
Section 2.	Increased food problems and the Rice Law ..	186
Section 3.	Agricultural crisis and the Rice Control (Law	189
Section 4.	The wartime food problem and the strengthened food control system	196

Section 5.	The food problem and food control administration after World War II	201
Chapter 10	The Policy for Marketing and Pricing of Silk	211
Chapter 11	The Policy for Marketing and Pricing of Fertilizer	222
Chapter 12	Local Government and Systems of Water Utilization and Land Improvement	232
Section 1.	The transition of local government	232
Section 2.	The system of water utilization	235
Section 3.	The development of the organization of land improvement	238
Chapter 13	The System of Finance and Insurance and Agricultural Organization	247
Section 1.	Readjustment and reorganization of agricultural organization	247
Section 2.	The development of the system of agricultural finance	262
Section 3.	The agricultural insurance system	275
Chapter 14	The Enactment of the Agricultural Basic Law	286
Section 1.	Demands for enactment of the Agricultural Basic Law	286
Section 2.	The enactment of the Agricultural Basic Law	289
Section 3.	The contents of the Agricultural Basic Law	293
PART III AGRICULTURE AND TECHNIQUE		297
Chapter 15	Instruction and Encouragement in Agriculture	299
Section 1.	The introduction of western farming methods and the employment of services of veteran farmers	299
Section 2.	The establishment of the official instruction system	302
Section 3.	The expansion of the rice and wheat improvement program	307
Section 4.	The national instruction network	309
Section 5.	The agricultural crisis and wartime agriculture	311

Section 6.	The rehabilitation of agriculture and new developments.	314
Chapter 16	The Development of Research Institutions	318
Section 1.	Establishment of model farms for western farming methods.	318
Section 2.	The establishment and specialization of agricultural experiment stations.	321
Section 3.	National organizations for research and experiment.	324
Section 4.	Experiment and research institutions after the War.	328
Chapter 17	The Establishment and Development of Agricultural Education	331
Section 1.	The dawn of agricultural education.	331
Section 2.	The establishment of the school system and the progress in agricultural education.	335
Section 3.	The new school system and agricultural education.	341
Chapter 18	Improvement of Rice Cultural Techniques	346
Section 1.	Rice culture at the Meiji Restoration.	346
Section 2.	An advance in rice culture.	352
Section 3.	Substantiation of rice crop.	356
Section 4.	A leap forward in rice culture.	359
Chapter 19	Development of a Fertilizer-Consuming Rice Culture.	365
Section 1.	Establishment of a fertilizer-consuming rice culture.	365
Section 2.	The second stage of the increased use of commercial fertilizer.	374
Section 3.	Postwar improvement in soil fertility conservation and fertilizer application.	377
Chapter 20	Land Improvement Projects.	388
Section 1.	The initiation of land improvement projects	388
Section 2.	Development of large-scale irrigation and drainage projects.	398
Section 3.	Increased food production and land improvement projects.	404
Chapter 21	Improvement in Farm Machinery and Farm Implements and Their Popularization	410
Section 1.	Development of hand implements.	411

Section 2.	Improvement of power farm machinery and farm implements.	413
Section 3.	Progress in farm mechanization.	418
Chapter 22	Disease and Insect Pest Control.	423
Section 1.	The start of disease and insect pest control	423
Section 2.	Systematization of disease and insect pest control measures.	426
Section 3.	The appearance of new effective agricultural chemicals.	429
Section 4.	Major rice diseases and insect pests.	431
Chapter 23	The Northward Expansion of Rice Cultivation—Development of Rice Growing in Hokkaido.	435
Section 1.	The introduction of rice cultivation into Hokkaido.	435
Section 2.	Improvement and development of rice cultivation.	438
Section 3.	Unrest in rice cultivation.	441
Section 4.	Advancement of rice cultivation.	445
Chapter 24	Development of Paddy Rice Productivity	448
Section 1.	A macro-analysis of paddy rice productivity development.	449
Section 2.	Changing level of rice yield per 10 ares in representative prefectures.	466
Section 3.	Differentials and deviations in rice productivity.	472
Chapter 25	Changes in Upland Crop Growing.	479
Section 1.	Changes in upland crop growing in Japan except Hokkaido.	479
Section 2.	The development of upland crop production in Hokkaido.	497
Chapter 26	Progress of Fruit Farming Techniques	509
Section 1.	History of fruit farming.	509
Section 2.	Progress of fruit farming techniques.	514
Section 3.	New development in fruit growing.	521
Chapter 27	The Development of Tea Industry.	528
Section 1.	Trend in tea cultivation.	528
Section 2.	Trends in processing.	530
Section 3.	The tea trade.	536
Chapter 28	The Technical Developments in the Raw Silk Industry.	541

Section 1.	The raw silk industry, its rise and growth ...	541
Section 2.	From prosperity to adjustment and rationalization.	549
Section 3.	From reconstruction to structural improvement.	558
Chapter 29	The Development of the Livestock Industry and its Bottlenecks.	566
Section 1.	The dawn of the livestock industry.	566
Section 2.	The encouragement of horse breeding and improvement of indigenous cattle.	571
Section 3.	Mixed farming and livestock for military purposes.	576
Section 4.	The recovery of the livestock industry.	586
Appendix	Some Comparisons of Rice Cultivation in Japan and Southeast Asia.	591
Section 1.	Climate during the rice-growing period, and productivity.	592
Section 2.	Characteristics of rice cultivation.	602
Section 3.	Physiological and genetic position of the Japonica type of rice.	610
PART IV THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE JAPANESE EXPERIENCE.		613
Preface.	615
Section 1.	Introduction.	617
Section 2.	Agriculture in Japan: The historical pattern of development.	621
Section 3.	Agricultural development and general economic growth in Japan.	629
Section 4.	Significant aspects of Japanese agricultural development.	639
Section 5.	Conclusion.	677
Appendix	Statistics of Japanese agricultural development.	682
Literature Cited.	685

Japanese Economic History

1930-1960

Volume VII

Selected and with a new introduction by Janet Hunter

Japan's Economic Position

John E. Orchard

London and New York

CONTENTS

	PAGE
FOREWORD	ix
CHAPTER I
SOME PROBLEMS OF THE NEW JAPAN	1
CHAPTER II
THE PRESSURE OF POPULATION	4
The Increasing Population—The Historical Background of the Population Growth—The Static Population of the Tokugawa Period—Famines of the Tokugawa Period—Poor Administration of the Country—Low Birth Rate of Tokugawa Period—The Hampering Restrictions of Feudalism—Rapid Growth of Population with Opening of Japan—No Decline in Death Rate—Increase in the Birth Rate—Increase in Food Supply—More Efficient Use of Land through Agricultural Specialization—Increase in Production through Breaking Down of Feudalism—New Occupations of Modern Period.
CHAPTER III
THE SEARCH FOR A SOLUTION	26
Expansion and Intensification of Agriculture—The Reclamation of Land—Improvements in Farming Methods—The Mechanization of Agriculture—Possibilities of a Change in Diet—Population Relief through Emigration—Migrations to Hokkaido—Karafuto—Korea—Formosa—Manchuria—Emigration to Foreign Countries—Emigration to Brazil—Birth Control—Industrialization.
CHAPTER IV
THE INDUSTRIAL BACKGROUND	49
The Principal Manufacturing Industries—The Use of Wood—Industrial Processes—The Small Establishments—The Location of the Principal Industries—The Art Industries—The Pottery Industry—The Iron and Steel Industry—The Copper Industry—The Making of Textiles—The Kyoto Industrial Center—The Unimportance of Foreign Trade—A Comparison of Japan and Eighteenth Century England.
CHAPTER V
THE BEGINNING OF INDUSTRIALIZATION: COMMUNICATIONS	73
The Triumph of the Machine—The Japanese Defense—The Need of Developing Trade and Manufacturing—Government Initiative in Westernization—Scarcity of Capital—The Inadequate Industrial Background—Building of Railways—The Nationalization of the Railways—The Telegraph—The Telephone—Shipbuilding—The New Shipyards—The Merchant Marine.
CHAPTER VI
THE BEGINNING OF INDUSTRIALIZATION: MANUFACTURING	89
Government Assistance—Foreign Experts—The Industrialization of Cotton Spinning—The Weaving of Cloth—The Reeling of Raw Silk—The Export of Silkworm

	PAGE
Eggs—The Tomioka Filature—The Mining Industry—The Iron and Steel Industry—The Imperial Steel Works—The Preparation of Tea—The Rubber Industry—The Match Industry—The Brewing Industry—The Making of Paper—The Chemical Industry.
CHAPTER VII
PRINCIPAL MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES	111
Measures of the Relative Importance of Industries—The Leading Manufacturing Industries—The Textile Industries—The Reeling of Silk—Cotton Spinning—Cotton Weaving—The Other Major Industries.
CHAPTER VIII
THE INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS: THE RAW SILK AREA	120
The Concentration of Silk Reeling—Factors Locating the Raw Silk Industry—The Rearing of Cocoons—Topography and Soil—Climate—Labor—The Suwa District.
CHAPTER IX
THE OSAKA-KOBE-KYOTO INDUSTRIAL CENTER	132
The Importance of Transportation—The Osaka Area—The Development of Osaka—Advantages for Manufacturing—The Principal Manufacturing Industries—The Textile Industries—The Fabrication of Iron and Steel—The Kobe Area—The Advantages and Disadvantages for Manufacturing—The Principal Manufacturing Industries—The Kyoto Area—The Principal Industries.
CHAPTER X
THE OTHER INDUSTRIAL CENTERS	155
The Tokyo-Yokohama Center—The Principal Manufacturing Industries—The Metal Industries—The Textile Industries—The Nagoya Center—Transportation Facilities—The Textile Industries—The Pottery Industry—Minor Centers of the Nagoya Area—The Northern Kyushu Industrial Center—Advantages for Manufacturing—The Principal Manufacturing Industries—The Imperial Steel Works—Other Industries of the Kyushu Center—The Minor Manufacturing Regions of Japan—Shizuoka—East and West Coasts of Honshiu—Hokkaido.
CHAPTER XI
THE MEASURE OF INDUSTRIALIZATION	182
The Importance of Agriculture—The Increase in Number of Factory Workers—The Small Size of the Industrial Establishments—The Prevalence of the Contract System—The Making of Lanterns and Umbrellas—The Geta Industry—Pottery, Brushes, Cutlery and Silk Cloth—The Organization of the Cloth Industry.
CHAPTER XII
THE PROGRESS OF FACTORY DEVELOPMENT	209
The Importance of Silk Reeling in Industrial Progress—The Minor Importance of the Silk Weaving Industry—The Growth of Cotton Spinning—The Position of Cotton Weaving—The Weakness of the Iron and Steel Industry—Consumption of Power—The Poor Reputation of Japanese Goods—The Activities of the Trade Associations—Foreign Trade as a Measure of Industrialization.
CHAPTER XIII
THE EFFECTS OF THE WORLD WAR ON INDUSTRIALIZATION	231
The Expansion of Industry—The Postwar Depression—The Textile Industries—The Iron and Steel Industry—A Summary of Japanese Industrial Development.

CHAPTER XIV

CAPITAL AND MECHANICAL SKILL	242
The Scarcity of Capital—The High Interest Rate—The Effects of the Scarcity of Capital on Industry—The Use of Old Equipment—The Absence of a Mechanical Background—The Dependence on Foreign Machinery—Japanese Industrial Inventions—The Organization of Japanese Factories—The Inefficiency of the Silk Industry.

CHAPTER XV

RAW MATERIALS AND WATER POWER	260
Raw Materials for the Textile Industries—Raw Cotton—Wool and Minor Fibres—Timber Resources—Water Power—Mineral Resources—Copper—Other Non-ferrous Metals—Sulphur—Clay and Sand—Chemical Materials.

CHAPTER XVI

THE IRON ORE AND FUEL RESOURCES OF THE JAPANESE EMPIRE	276
Iron Ore Resources—Iron Sands—Coal Resources—The Distribution of the Deposits—The Scarcity of Coking Coal—Petroleum Resources—Korea as a Source of Iron Ore and Coal.

CHAPTER XVII

MANCHURIA AS A SOURCE OF RAW MATERIALS	292
Japanese Expansion in Manchuria—Manchuria as a Source of Food—The Iron Ore Resources—The Penhsihu Iron Works—The Anshan Iron Works—The Fushun Colliery—The Marketing of Anshan Pig Iron—Other Iron Ore and Coal Resources—Other Raw Material Industries—Summary.

CHAPTER XVIII

CHINA AS A SOURCE OF IRON ORE AND FUEL	312
Coal Resources—Iron Ore Resources—The Hanyehp'ing Iron and Coal Company—The Hanyang Iron Works—The P'inghsiang Colliery—The Tayeh Iron Mine—The Tayeh Blast Furnaces—Summary of Japanese Relations with Hanyehp'ing Company—Other Iron Ore Deposits of China—The Penetration of Japanese Capital into China—Japan's Search for Iron Ore in Other Lands—The Malay Peninsula—Australasia—India—Philippine Islands—Summary.

CHAPTER XIX

THE LABOR SUPPLY	339
The Scarcity of Factory Labor—The Recruiting of Labor—Labor Piracy—Labor Turnover—Unemployment—The Cheapness of Labor—The Level of Wages—Wages in Relation to the Cost of Living—Labor Costs—Disadvantages of the Dormitory System—Discharge Allowance—Paternalism in Japanese Industry.

CHAPTER XX

THE EFFICIENCY OF LABOR	362
The Effect of Low Wages—The Effect of Long Hours—Night Work for Women and Children—The Relative Efficiency of the Japanese Worker—Efficiency in Cotton Spinning—Efficiency in Cotton Weaving—Efficiency in Other Industries—Possible Increases in Efficiency through Shorter Hours—Increases in Efficiency through Improved Machinery.

	PAGE
CHAPTER XXI
THE DEVELOPMENT OF A LABOR MOVEMENT	382
The Pressure of International Standards—The Background of the Labor Movement—The Yuai Kai—The Present Labor Movement—Obstacles to the Labor Movement—The Household Industries—The Influence of Paternalism—Government Suppression of the Labor Movement—Internal Dissension in the Labor Movement—The Political Labor Movement.
CHAPTER XXII
THE CHANGING STATUS OF LABOR	403
The Factory Acts of 1911 and 1923—Other Social Legislation—Present Aims of Labor—The Upward Trend of Wages—The Contributions of Labor to Rationalized Industry.
CHAPTER XXIII
THE DEPENDENCE OF INDUSTRIALIZATION UPON FOREIGN TRADE	419
The Unfavorable Balance of Trade—Dominant Position of Raw Materials in the Import Trade—The Importance of Semi-manufactures in the Export Trade—The Threats to the Raw Silk Exports—The Increasing Importance of Cotton Goods Exports—Cotton Trade with China—Obstacles to Japanese Cotton Trade with India—Possible Markets for Expansion of Japanese Cotton Trade—Other Export Industries.
CHAPTER XXIV
ANALYSIS OF MARKETS FOR JAPANESE EXPORTS	448
The American Market—The Asia Market—The Anti-Japanese Boycotts in China—The Tatsu Maru Episode—The Boycott of 1909—The Boycott against the Twenty-one Demands—The Shantung Issue and the 1919 Boycott—Political and Economic Effects of the 1919 Boycott—The 1921 Boycott—The Boycott of 1923—The Tsingtao Incident of 1927—The Tsinan Incident in 1928—The Cost of the Boycotts to the Chinese—Summary of Effectiveness of the Boycotts—China's Tariff Autonomy—Trade with the Rest of Asia—British Indian Trade—Other Possible Markets for Japanese Exports.
CHAPTER XXV
THE OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE	481
The Yellow Industrial Peril—An Oriental Industrial Revolution—A New Policy toward China.
LIST OF PRINCIPAL SOURCES	490
INDEX	493