

The Organizational Measurement Manual

DAVID WEALLEANS

Gower

Contents

List of Figures and Tables ix

Preface xi

PART 1 THE CONCEPT OF MEASUREMENT 1

Introduction and Purpose of Measurement 3

Background to measurement 3

Performance measurement 4

Why do we measure? 7

Common measures used 9

Corporate versus process measurement 10

Management commitment 12

Customer-supplier relationships 12

Summary 13

Note 13

Corporate Measurement 14

Measurement at the top level 14

Uses of measurements 15

Examples 18

Benefits of measurements 20 ,<

Best approach to measurements 21

Performance incentives 23

Relationship of performance to process measurements 24

Summary 24

Process Measurement 26

Measurement at the process level 26

Uses and benefits of process measurement 29

Drawbacks of process measurement 31

Examples 34,

Best approach 35

Relationship of process to strategic measurements 36

Summary 37

PART 2 ESTABLISHING A PROCESS MEASUREMENT PROGRAMME 39

- 4 Customer-centred Measurement 41
  - The need to concentrate on customers 41
  - Selecting the process 42
  - Process purpose 42
  - Serving customers 43
  - Deliverables 47
  - Identifying customer expectations 48
  - Reconciling conflicts 51
  - Summary 52

- 5 Identifying the Process Measurement 53
  - Output measurements 53
  - Subsidiary measurements 55
  - Quantification 58
  - Measurement criteria 59
  - Summary 66

- 6 Targets and Objectives 67
  - Why have targets? 67
  - Constructive purpose of target-setting 68
  - Single and dual limits 69
  - Setting target levels 73
  - Stretch and comfortable targets 77
  - Target development 79
  - Action limits 79
  - Summary 82

- 7 Tracking and Recording 83
  - Collecting data 83
  - Sources 83
  - Frequency of recording 86
  - Responsibility for data collection and reporting 87
  - Reporting method and style 88
  - Charts 88
  - Communication and display 99
  - Summary 100

8	Interpretation	101
	Do we need to interpret?	101
	Avoiding argument	101
	How to interpret measurements	102
	Some aids to analysis	111
	Preparing for action on measurement results	115
	Summary	117

9	Action	118
	When to take action	118
	What action to take	119
	Plan-do-check-act	122
	Problem-solving	124
	Maintaining the gain	125
	Adjusting measurements and targets	126
	Summary	127

10	Involving People	128
	One versus many	128
	Motivation and enthusiasm	129
	Motivational theory	130
	Removing fear	132
	Responsibility	133
	People-friendly measurements	134
	People-oriented actions	135
	Summary	136

PART3 LOOKING BEYOND THE BASICS 137

11	International Standards	139
	Measurement standards	139
	ISO 14001	139
	ISO 9001	142
	Award schemes	145
	Other standards	147
	Further development	148
	Summary	149

12	Quality Costs	150
	What are quality costs?	150
	Cost models	151
	Why bother with quality costs?	156

Cost analysis	157
Results and actions	158
Using quality costs with process measurements	159
Summary	160
Notes	161
13 The Long Term	162
Constant measurement	162
Should we ever stop measuring?	162
New measurements	165
Automation and measuring	168
External pressures to measure	169
Satisfaction with our customers and stakeholders	170
Summary	171
Note	171
Index	173