

China's Telecommunications Market

Entering a New Competitive Age

by

Ding Lu

Associate Professor of Economics, National University of Singapore

Chee Kong Wong

PhD Candidate for Economics, University of Western Australia

ADVANCES IN CHINESE ECONOMIC STUDIES

Edward Elgar

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of figures	viii
List of tables	ix
List of acronyms	x
Exchange rates	xii
Preface and acknowledgements	xiii
Foreword by Hajime Oniki	xv
1 A great leap forward to the information age	1
2 Behind the hyper growth	17
3 Opening of a mega market	33
4 Forming a regulatory framework	52
5 The impact of China's WTO membership	69
6 New developments and prospects	94
Appendix 1 Main events of China's telecommunications sector (1979-2003)	113
Appendix 2 Telecommunications regulations of the People's Republic of China	136
Appendix 3 Regulations on foreign-invested telecom enterprises	157
Bibliography	164
Index	169