

International HRM

A Cross-Cultural Approach

Terence Jackson

Preface	ix
Introduction: Beyond Human Resource Management	1
1. The Cross-Cultural Organization: The Multicultural Model	13
Swedish culture and people management - IKEA: managing cultural differences - The multicultural model - Cultural values - Other cultural dimensions - Some reflections on the cross-cultural organization - Spanish culture and work values - People management in Spain - IKEA in Spain — Implications for managers - An agenda for research.
2. The Strategic Organization: The Supranational Model	37
French culture and people management - Credit Lyonnais: the internationalization process - The supranational model - Strategies for international organizations - Integration and differentiation - Perlmutter's model - Implications for human resource management policy - An integrated strategic framework - Credit Lyonnais revisited - Implications for managers - An agenda for research.
3. The Competent Organization: The American Model	59
Andersen Consulting (Europe) - The American model - Why American theories might not apply abroad - Parochialism and universality - Management competences approach - European and international competences — The cultural regard for managers and their competences - Different degrees of internationalization of companies - Problems inherent within the competences model - Implications for managers: selection of managers and key staff - An agenda for research.
4. The Missionary Organization: The Dutch Model	81
The Dutch model: the missionary spirit - An American company in the Netherlands - Royal Dutch/Shell - Why expatriation? A strategic perspective - Is expatriation problematic? - Choosing expatriates - Acculturation - Why expatriation? The career perspective - Cultural factors in international career choice - Women and expatriation - Other cultural factors in international career choice - Implications for managers - An agenda for research.
5. The Motivating Organization: The Japanese Model	107
Corporate commitment - Task, job, career and organizational incentives - Needs, satisfaction and culture - The Japanese model and Matsushita - Japanese people management and Sumitomo Metal Industries - Do Japanese people management work techniques work outside Japan? Chiba International - Implications for managers: reward systems across cultures - An agenda for research.

6. The Learning Organization: The British Model	127
The British model - British management culture - British Petroleum - Action learning and the experiential approach - Transferability across cultures - The organizational learning concept - Training and development within a total model - From learning to knowledge: from Britain to Japan - Implications for managers: potential cross-cultural problems with the learning organization concept - An agenda for, research: the cross-cultural challenge.
7. The Flexible Organization: The European Union Model	147
The European model - Digital Equipment Corporation (Europe) - The context of management and organizations in Europe - A European model of people management - Organization and work flexibility - Implications for managers: revisiting DEC (Europe) - An agenda for research.
8. The Joint Venture Organization: The Chinese Model	163
With Peter Xu Lu* The Blue Sword Group - Chinese work values - International joint ventures in China - Motivation and reward systems in Chinese international joint ventures - Implications for the management of joint ventures - An agenda for research.
9. The Transitioning Organization: The Post-Soviet Model	183
The post-Soviet model - Volkswagen-Skoda joint venture - German people management - Soviet management and organization - Soviet management in East Germany - Soviet personnel management - Post-Soviet people management - People management in the Czech Republic - Implications for managers: Western companies in Russia - An agenda for research.
10. The Stakeholder Organization: The Post-Colonial Model	203
The post-colonial model - People management in South Africa - Eskom - AECI Explosives Ltd - Germiston City Council - African people management - Indian people management - Culture and Indian managers - Indian management responses to liberalization - Implications for managers: indigenous knowledge and the stakeholder approach - An agenda for research: post-colonialism and hybridization.
11. Conclusion: The Future Organization	223
References	231
Index	249