

Comparing Regionalisms

Implications for Global Development

Edited by

Bjorn Hettne

*Professor, Department of Peace and Development
Goteborg University, Sweden*

Andras Inotai

*Director-General
Institute for World Economics, Budapest*

and

Osvaldo Sunkel

*Professor of Economics
Centro de Analisis de Politicas Publicas
Universidad de Chile*

Foreword by Giovanni Andrea Cornia

Director. UNU/WIDER

palgrave

Contents

List of Abbreviations and Acronyms	vi
Notes on the Editors and Contributors	viii
Foreword by Giovanni Andrea Cornia	xi
The New Regionalism: A Prologue	xii
Editors' Introduction	xxvii
1 Regionalism, Security and Development: A Comparative Perspective Bjorn Hettne	1
2 Transnational Integration and National Disintegration Revisited Osvaldo Sunkel and Michael Mortimore	54
3 Regionalisms Compared: The African and Southeast Asian Experience Morten B0as, and Helge Hveem	93
4 Post-Hegemonic and Post-Socialist Regionalisms: A Comparison of East Asia and Central Europe Raimo Vayrynen	132
5 The European Union and NAFTA Compared Edme Dominguez R. and Bjorn Hettne	187
6 Subregional Responses to Globalization James H. Mittelman	214
7 Key Issues in the New Regionalism: Comparisons from Asia, Africa and the Middle East Michael Schulz, Fredrik Soderbaum and Joakim Ojendal	234
Table of Contents of Titles in the WIDER New Regionalism Series	277
Index	281