

THE POLITICS OF MEMORY AND IDENTITY
IN CAROLINGIAN ROYAL DIPLOMAS

THE WEST FRANKISH KINGDOM (840-987)

Geoffrey Koziol

BREPOLS

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Abbreviations	xiii
List of Plates	xvii
Map	xix
Introduction	1
Part One: Instruments of Power	9
Chapter 1. Charters, Diplomas, and Performative Acts	17
Diplomatik and Urkundenforschung	17
Performative Acts	42
Diplomas as Performative Acts	52
Chapter 2. Accession Acts: Kings and Regimes Enter into Power	63
Becoming King	63
Charles the Bald at Toulouse (844)	69
Charles the Fat (885)	74
Odo (889)	81
Louis IV d'Outremer (936)	85
A Commitment to Kingship	91

Chapter 3. Succession Acts: Diplomas that Establish Legitimacy and Identity	97
Mimesis, Quotation, and Succession	97
Pippin II of Aquitaine (839)	99
Lothar II in Provence (863)	105
Charles the Bald in Lotharingia (869)	108
Louis II the Stammerer (877)	111
Establishing Succession	115
Chapter 4. The Diplomas of Charles the Bald: Politics and the Palace	119
Diplomas and the Narrative of Decline	119
The Early Diplomas (840-843)	125
Charles the Bald and his Loyalists (858-859)	130
Adalard, Vivian, and Tours (843-845): The High Politics of Diplomas	140
Charles and Erispoë (856)	150
The Low Politics of Diplomas: Ebroin and Glanfeuil	154
Ragamfrid's Forgeries	162
Writing and the Reform Councils	171
Diplomas and the Selective Application of Reform	179
Diplomas and the Palatines (869-877)	187
Chapter 5. A Politics of Alliance: Diplomas after Charles the Bald	213
Towards a Politics of the Past	213
Trends and Transformations	215
A Kingship of Alliances	223
Alliance Acts	231
Charles the Simple and the Margraves	236
Raoul at Chalon (924)	247
Louis IV and the Vermandois Settlement (943)	252
Louis IV's Restoration at Chevreigny (946)	256
Louis IV, Artald, and Saint-Remi (940)	258
Lothar and Flanders	259
New Directions	261

Chapter 6. Allying the Saints: Diplomas and Monastic Reform	263
Amicitia and the Problem of Unity	263
Amicitia and Monastic Reform	272
Cluny and Déols	279
Acfred's Revenge: Sauxillanges	285
The Pater et dux monachorum	287
Closing the Circle: The Pilgrimage of Louis d'Outremer (941-942)	294
Homblières	301
Diplomas, Monasteries, and the Kingdom	307
Chapter 7. Forged Acts: Frankish Truth and its Consequences	315
Understanding Forgery	315
Carolingian Truth: History	324
Carolingian Truth: Commemoration	332
Carolingian Truth: Oaths and Trials	340
Cartae falsae	352
The Forgeries of Adalgarius	358
The Le Mans Forgeries	365
Repudiating Boso	381
Humiliating Sint-Baafs	391
Testing triuwe	398
Part Two: The Footsteps of Kings	401
Chapter 8. The Song of Robert of Neustria	409
Stories, Memories, and Diplomas	409
The Robertians in Historiography	415
The Background of the Revolt	425
Northmen and Margraves	429
Robert's Saint-Denis	439
The 'Deposition'	445
The Diploma of 25 January 923	447

Chapter 9. The Passion of Charles the Simple	459
The Judgment of Soissons	459
The Simplicity of the Dove	461
Herbert and Hagano	465
Fulk and Adelaide	470
Dynastic Pride	479
Carolingian Destiny and Gelasian Majesty	481
Legitimacy	492
The Early Acts for Robert and Richard	501
The Resurrection of Reform	504
Lay Abbacies and Royal Prerogative after 911	511
Monasteries and Memorialising	517
The Voice of Charles	524
The Last Diplomas	529
Chapter 10. Remembering Compiègne	535
Lieux de Mémoire	535
Carlopolis	541
Charles the Simple's Politics of Memory	544
Revenge	548
Epilogue: Forgetting Compiègne	557
Bibliography	565
Plates	621
Index	631