

Social Power and the Labour Market

A Radical Approach to Labour Economics

DAVID PURDY

*Lecturer in Economics
University of Manchester*

M
MACMILLAN EDUCATION

Contents

Acknowledgements x

Part One: The Theory of the Labour Market

1 Two Paradigms: Exchange and Reproduction	3
1 Paradigms and models	3
2 The exchange paradigm	4
3 Blind spots and distortions	12
4 The reproduction paradigm	16
5 The plan of this book	20
2 The Concept of Power	24
1 Preliminary definitions	24
2 The three dimensions of power	26
3 Issues, interests, decisions and non-decisions	30
3 Power in the Exchange Paradigm	36
1 Introduction	36
2 Power as capacity and power as relationship	38
3 The identification and measurement of power	41
4 Power forces as supplementing market outcomes	45
5 Exchange models and the three dimensions of power	51
6 The central claim of the exchange paradigm	56
4 Power in the Reproduction Paradigm	59
1 Introduction	59
2 The labour process and the critique of the exchange paradigm's central claim	60
3 The 'social bases of obedience'	63

4	The reproduction cost theory of wages	69
5	The moral and historical element	74
6	Systemic power and the moral and historical element	79
5	The Peculiarities of Labour Power	85
1	Introduction	85
2	The inalienable character of labour power	86
3	The reproduction of labour power	87
4	Classical Marxism and Labour's existential problem	93
5	Trade unions and the logic of collective action	102
6	Labour's Goals and the Reproduction of Unequal Power	111
1	Introduction	111
2	A choice theoretic model of goal selection	113
3	Systemic goal containment and countervailing pressure	122
4	The transformatory project	132

Part Two: The Future of the Labour Market

7	Capitalism, Gender and Toil	145
1	Introduction	145
2	Capitalism and working time	146
3	'Part-time' work and reduced working time	150
4	Gender and the sexual division of labour	155
5	The components of toil	160
8	Réduced Working Time and the Redivision of Labour	167
1	Introduction	167
2	A modest proposal for reducing working time: sabbatical and caring leave	168
3	The obstacles to a shorter working week	173
4	The shorter working week: a taxonomy of losers and the agenda for a winning strategy	176
9	Basic Income, Social Security and the Labour Market	193
1	Introduction	193
2	The meaning of basic income	193
3	The secular preconditions for basic income	198
4	The dual crisis of the labour market and social security system	201

10	Basic Income and the Transformation of Work	219
1	Introduction	219
2	Overcoming the defects of the present social security system	220
3	Reducing working time and redistributing employment	223
4	Deconstructing employment status	229
5	Abating toil	235
11	Basic Income: Incentives, Ethics and Political Strategy	241
1	Introduction	241
2	Economic incentives	242
3	Ethical objections to basic income	246
4	The logic of citizenship	251
5	The political feasibility of a basic income strategy	254
6	Basic income and the labour movement	257
7	Sectionalism, trade unions and incomes policy	260
	References	268
	Index	275