

Studies in the Management Sciences

Volume 12, 1979

FORECASTING

Edited by

S. MAKRIDAKIS
S. C. WHEELWRIGHT

1979

NORTH-HOLLAND PUBLISHING COMPANY – AMSTERDAM

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Introduction
Forecasting: framework and overview Spyros Makridakis and Steven C. Wheelwright	1
Organizational forecasting: its achievements and limitations Robert L. McLaughlin	17
Part A: Existing forecasting methodologies
Forecasting with exponential smoothing and related methods Lynwood A. Johnson and Douglas C. Montgomery	31
Seasonal adjustment – a survey J. Peter Burman	45
Time-series model building and forecasting: a survey Paul Newbold	59
Kalman filters and their applications to forecasting Raman K. Mehra	75
An econometric approach to forecasting demand and firm behavior: Canadian telecommunications Vittorio Corbo and Robert S. Pindyck	95
Input-output methods in forecasting J.M. Blin, E.A. Stohr and B. Bagamery	113
The utility of long-term forecasting Olaf Helmer	141
Part B: Extending existing forecasting methodologies
Forecasting and whitening filter estimation Emanuel Parzen	149

An ARIMA-based methodology for forecasting in a multi-item environment Bert M. Steece and Steven D. Wood	167
Time-series analysis and forecasting with an absolute error criterion Kenneth O. Cogger	189
A multideterministic approach to forecasting James E. Reinmuth and Michael D. Geurts	203
Inflation's turn Geoffrey H. Moore	213
Part C: Practical and organizational aspects of forecasting
Lessons from the track record of macroeconomic forecasts in the 1970s Stephen K. McNees	227
Forecasting considerations in a rapidly changing economy Alan R. Beckenstein	247
Automatic forecasting using the FLEXICAST system Lewis W. Coopersmith	265
Forecasting by smoothed regression: development and an application to predicting customer utility bills Charles P. Bonini and James R. Freeland	279
On selecting a forecasting model Robert Fildes and Syd Howell	297
Conclusions
Intuitive predictions: biases and corrective procedures Daniel Kahneman and Amos Tversky	313
Forecasting the future and the future of forecasting Spyros Makridakis and Steven C. Wheelwright	329
Appendix I: Reviews of recent forecasting publications	353
Appendix II: Referees	377
Notes about authors	383