

EVOLUTIONARY MACROECONOMICS

JOHN FOSTER

*Department of Political Economy
University of Glasgow*

London
ALLEN & UNWIN
Boston Sydney Wellington

Contents

1	Introduction	page 1
2	The Decline of the Keynesian Consensus	10
3	The Rise of New Classical Macroeconomics	35
4	New Directions in Keynesian Economics	58
5	The Bio-philosophical Foundations of Macroeconomics	79
6	General Behavioural Dynamics: from Structure to Consciousness	107
7	The Foundations of an Evolutionary Approach to Economic Behaviour	130
8	Economic Behaviour in the Short Run of Evolutionary Time	152
9	Structural Change in the Long Run of Evolutionary Time	182
10	An Evolutionary Framework for Macroeconomic Analysis	204
11	The Evolution of the Mixed Economy	225
12	Curing Stagflation: An Evolutionary Approach	249
13	Conclusion	280
	Bibliography	288
	Index	309