| | | |
|-----|---|----|
| 1 | General Introduction | 1 |
| 1.1 | Introduction | 1 |
| 1.2 | Market-Clearing Approach to Dynamic Macroeconomics | 2 |
| 1.3 | Nonmarket-Clearing Approach to Dynamic Macroeconomics | 4 |
| 1.4 | On Stylized Empirical Facts | 6 |
| 1.5 | Perspective of the Book | 7 |
| 1.6 | A Brief Outlook | 10 |
| 1.7 | Dynamic Tools and Econometric Issues | 13 |
| 1.8 | Notation and Abbreviations | 14 |
| I | Market Mechanisms and Macrodynamics: Basic Models | 19 |
| 2 | Micro- and Macroeconomic Adjustment Mechanisms: A Brief Overview | 23 |
| 2.1 | Introduction | 23 |
| 2.2 | Microeconomic Adjustment Mechanisms | 23 |
| 2.3 | Macroeconomic Adjustment Mechanisms | 27 |
| 3 | Market Mechanisms and Boundedness of Market Fluctuations | 33 |
| 3.1 | Introduction | 33 |
| 3.2 | Walrasian Price-Quantity Adjustments | 34 |
| 3.3 | Keynesian and Composite Adjustment Processes | 44 |
| 3.4 | Proportional and Derivative Control | 48 |

| | | |
|-----------|---|------------|
| 3.5 | Concluding Remarks | 57 |
| 3.6 | Appendix: Market Adjustments and the Newton Method | 58 |
| 4 | Non-Neoclassical Variants of Dynamic Macroeconomics | 61 |
| 4.1 | Introduction | 61 |
| 4.2 | Instability in Real and Monetary Models | 63 |
| 4.3 | Boundedness in Real and Monetary Models | 73 |
| 4.4 | Classical Growth Dynamics and Viability | 81 |
| 4.5 | Supply-Driven Keynesian Growth Dynamics | 90 |
| 4.6 | Effective Demand in Classical Growth Dynamics | 96 |
| 4.7 | Some Conclusions | 101 |
| 5 | Neoclassical Variants of Dynamic Macroeconomics | 103 |
| 5.1 | Introduction | 103 |
| 5.2 | The Solow Version and the Labor Market | 105 |
| 5.3 | The Intertemporal Version of the Solow Model | 109 |
| 5.4 | Stochastic Growth and Equilibrium Business Cycles | 112 |
| 5.5 | Endogenous Technical Change and Growth | 115 |
| 5.6 | Growth, Money, and Finance | 121 |
| 5.7 | Concluding Remarks | 126 |
| II | Price Flexibility, Nominal Rigidity, and Macrodynamics | 127 |
| 6 | Wage Flexibility and Stability in the Short Run | 131 |
| 6.1 | Introduction | 131 |
| 6.2 | The Walrasian Adjustment Process | 133 |
| 6.3 | The Keynesian Adjustment Process | 137 |
| 6.4 | Conclusion | 143 |
| 6.5 | Mathematical Appendix | 144 |
| 7 | Price Flexibility and Instability in the Medium Run | 147 |
| 7.1 | Introduction | 147 |
| 7.2 | In Defense of Adaptive Expectations | 149 |
| 7.3 | Adaptive Expectations and Extrapolative Regression Forecasts | 156 |
| 7.4 | Basic Features of the Tobin and the Sargent Model | 162 |
| 7.5 | The Case of Adaptive Expectations | 166 |
| 7.6 | The Case of Myopic Perfect Foresight | 172 |
| 7.7 | Conclusion | 176 |
| 7.8 | Appendix: Mathematical Proofs | 177 |

III AD-AS and IS-LM Models of Monetary Growth 183

- 8 Keynesian Growth Dynamics, Perfect Foresight, and Viability 187
 - 8.1 Introduction 187
 - 8.2 RE Propositions in Fully Specified AD-AS Growth Models: A Reconsideration 189
 - 8.3 Hyperperfect Foresight: An Exceptional Case in an Exceptional Environment 196
 - 8.4 Myopic Perfect Foresight and Cyclical IS-LM Growth 210
 - 8.5 IS-LM Growth Dynamics and Viability 217
 - 8.6 Concluding Remarks 224
- 9 Adaptive Expectations or Myopic Perfect Foresight: The Wrong Alternative 227
 - 9.1 Introduction 227
 - 9.2 The AD-AS Growth Model in Discrete Time 233
 - 9.3 A Numerical Analysis of the AE Case 238
 - 9.4 AE and MPF I: Cases of No Difference 241
 - 9.5 AE and MPF II: Why Can There Be a Difference? 247
 - 9.6 AE and MPF III: The Basic Fallacy 254
 - 9.7 Appendix: Forecasted Price Changes and Adaptive Learning 262

IV Supply and Demand Side Models of Keynesian Growth Dynamics 267

- 10 Supply Side Keynesianism and the Classical Growth Cycle 271
 - 10.1 Introduction 271
 - 10.2 A General Keynes-Wicksell Model of Monetary Growth 274
 - 10.3 Local Stability Analysis 278
 - 10.4 The Neoclassical Case: Savings and Monetary Growth 279
 - 10.5 The Classical Case: Cross-Dual Monetary Growth Dynamics 281
 - 10.6 Conclusions 288
 - 10.7 Appendix 1: Stein (1982) 289
 - 10.8 Appendix 2: Proofs of Theorems 10.1–10.3 292
- 11 Inflation, Distribution, and Cycles in a Keynesian Monetary Growth Model 299
 - 11.1 Perspective of the Model 299

| | | |
|----------|--|------------|
| 11.2 | Formulation of the Model | 305 |
| 11.3 | Local Analysis | 311 |
| 11.4 | Simulation Results for the Original Model | 316 |
| 11.5 | A Modification of Adaptive Expectations | 321 |
| 11.6 | Simulation Results with Flexible Adaptive Expectations | 326 |
| 11.7 | Conclusion | 332 |
| V | Finance, Long-Term Expectations, and Macro Fluctuations | 335 |
| 12 | Finance, Expectations Dynamics, and Macro Fluctuations | 339 |
| 12.1 | Introduction | 339 |
| 12.2 | Investment and Long-Term Expectations | 341 |
| 12.3 | The IS-LM Configuration | 348 |
| 12.4 | Analysis of Temporary Equilibria | 351 |
| 12.5 | Long-Run Dynamics | 357 |
| 12.6 | Computer Simulations | 363 |
| 12.7 | Conclusion | 368 |
| 12.8 | Mathematical Appendix | 369 |
| 13 | Trends and Cycles in the Capital Structure | 373 |
| 13.1 | Introduction | 373 |
| 13.2 | A Simple Dynamic Approach | 376 |
| 13.3 | The Dynamics of the Capital Structure: Constant Trend | 378 |
| 13.4 | The Dynamics of the Capital Structure: Trend Variations | 386 |
| 13.5 | Conclusion | 389 |
| 13.6 | Appendix | 392 |
| 14 | Conclusions | 397 |
