
CHATHAM HOUSE PAPERS · 43

EUROPE'S DOMESTIC MARKET

Jacques Pelkmans
and L. Alan Winters with Helen Wallace

The Royal Institute of International Affairs

Routledge

CONTENTS

Preface/vii
Summary/viii
1 Introduction/1
2 The barriers and their costs/16
3 Complementary economic policies/54
4 The political framework/75
5 The implications for the Community/84
6 What's in it for Britain?/104
Appendix/131
References/145

Tables

1.1 The White Paper on the internal market:
a taxonomy/12
2.1 Reported barriers to intra-EC trade, 1985/28
2.2 Subsidies to manufacturing – West Germany/33
2.3 Subsidies in selected countries/34
2.4 Cigarette taxes and prices, 1986/42
5.1 Fiscal harmonization in the EC/94
6.1 Fragmentation in the EC internal market for high-tech products/109
6.2 Major UK current support and grants to industry
by department and programme/114

Contents

- 6.3 Banking activity in the UK
relative to other European centres/116
- 6.4 UK net balance-of-payments earnings for parts of the financial services sector/118
- 6.5 UK indirect taxes in 1987 and 1992/127
- A.1 Product market integration: before and after the White Paper/131
- A.2 Road haulage/133
- A.3 Air transport/135
- A.4 Banking/137
- A.5 Insurance/139
- A.6 White Paper proposals adopted as of 31 December 1987/141
- A.7 Key provisions of the Single European Act/143

Figures

- 2.1 Effects of a tariff on imports/19
- 6.1 Industries classified by barriers to EC trade and UK comparative advantage/105