

4-ENT

OECD Economic Surveys

Germany

Technische Universität Darmstadt
Inv. Nr. 19832/2006
Institut für Berufspädagogik

2006

ORGANISATION FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION AND DEVELOPMENT

Bibliothek für Berufspädagogik
TU Darmstadt

59234749

Table of contents

Executive summary	8
Assessment and recommendations	11
Chapter 1. Macroeconomic developments and policy challenges	21
Economic activity is still weak and uneven	22
Comprehensive reforms increase potential benefits	31
Notes	34
Bibliography	35
Annex 1.A1. Progress on structural reform – Summary of past recommendations and actions	37
Annex 1.A2. Explaining the movements in the savings ratio	39
Annex 1.A3. Explaining movements in business investment	42
Annex 1.A4. Explaining movements in the real effective exchange rate	44
Chapter 2. Regaining fiscal credibility and improving public sector efficiency	49
Fiscal development and forces acting	50
Toward more efficient government: Issues in public sector reform	55
Continuing tax reform	65
Notes	73
Bibliography	75
Chapter 3. The performance of the education system needs to improve	79
Outcomes in secondary education need to improve further	80
Making take-up of university education more attractive would help weather the impact of demographic change on standards of living	83
Notes	87
Bibliography	88
Chapter 4. Labour market reform should go on	91
Reducing disincentives to labour force participation of older people and spouses	92
Toward more efficient employment policies	97
Toward more flexibility in setting wages and work conditions	106
Notes	110
Bibliography	113

Chapter 5. Fostering product market competition would have large benefits	117
The relationship between product market competition and economic performance is robust	118
General competition law and institutions are effective	123
Public ownership of and support for industry is still substantial	126
Administration burdens on doing business are excessive	127
Regulatory challenges in network industries are significant	129
The service sector needs to be more open	143
Notes	148
Bibliography	151
Glossary	153
Boxes
1.1. Short-term economic developments and prospects	23
2.1. Recommendations to put fiscal policy on a sustainable path and improve public sector efficiency	71
3.1. Recommendations for a more efficient education system	87
4.1. Recommendations for a better labour market performance	109
5.1. Benefits of regulatory reform in Germany	119
5.2. The Walmart case	125
5.3. Government ownership in the business sector	127
5.4. The electricity market	133
5.5. The gas market	134
5.6. Discrimination of competitors in electricity generation: the case of balancing energy	137
5.7. Recommendations for making regulation more competition friendly	146
Tables
1.1. Demand and output	23
1.A2.1. Regression results consumption ratio	40
2.1. Medium term fiscal objectives for the general government	53
2.2. Isolated impact of measures taken by the new government on general government finances	53
5.1. Labour productivity growth 1993-2002	119
Figures
1.1. German exports in comparison	25
1.2. Germany's international competitiveness	26
1.3. Comparison of business cycles	27
1.4. Actual and predicted consumption shares	28
1.5. Decomposition of the effective real exchange rate	28
1.6. The development of unemployment	29
1.7. Unemployment rates of the unskilled	29
1.8. Employment: persons and hours	30
1.A3.1. Deviation of actual business investment from model prediction	43