

Management Compensation in High Technology Companies

Assuring Corporate Excellence

Jay Schuster

TECHNISCHE HOCHSCHULE DARMSTADT
Fachbereich 1
Gesamtbibliothek
Betriebswirtschaftslehre
Inventar-Nr. :	35.992
Abstell-Nr. :	A31/174
Sachgebiete:	1.8
	00270083

LexingtonBooks
D.C. Heath and Company
Lexington, Massachusetts
Toronto

Contents

	Preface	ix
Chapter 1	Introduction	1
	Background of the Industry	1
	Performance Improvement Is Important	2
	Communicating Strong Performance Values	4
	High Technology and U.S. Economic Strength	5
Chapter 2	Performance Values and Company Culture	7
	Weak Performance Values	7
	Mixed Performance Values	11
	Strong Performance Values	14
	The Influence of Performance Values on Company Culture	21
	Summary	28
Chapter 3	Management Compensation Today	29
	Management's Present Concerns	29
	Job Evaluation Practices	31
	Incentive Plan Practices	37
	Supplemental Management Compensation	48
	Summary	50
Chapter 4	Management Job Evaluation Methods	51
	Management Job Evaluation	51
	Job Evaluation Considerations	54
	Compensation Surveys	55
	Rank-to-Market Job Evaluation	56
	Point-Factor Job Evaluation	60
	Knowledge and Abilities Job Evaluation	66
	Summary	70
Chapter 5	Management Short-Term Incentives	73
	Management Incentive Practices	73
	Incentive Plan Participation	74

	Incentives and Taxes	75
	Incentive Performance Criteria	76
	Incentive Award Size	78
	Special Award Programs	79
	Measuring Management Contribution	80
	Management Incentive Objectives	80
	Steps to Incentive Plan Design	81
	Example of an Incentive Plan	84
	Trends in Short-Term Plans	87
	Summary	87
Chapter 6	Management Long-Term Incentives	89
	Management Incentive Practices	89
	Types of Long-Term Incentives	92
	Incentives to Sustain Performance Values	98
	Management Benefits and Perquisites	100
	Management Incentive Objectives	101
	Trends in Long-Term Plans	106
	Summary	106
Chapter 7	A Close Look at the Companies that Perform the Best	109
	What Causes Very Good Financial Performance?	109
	Companies that Changed Their Cultures	110
	How to Change Company Culture	113
	Improving Compensation Programs	118
	Summary: High Technology Innovation	124
Chapter 8	Epilog about Better Performance	127
	Case 1—XYZ Medical Technology, Inc.	127
	Case 2—MNO Electronic Devices Corporation	129
	Case 3—ABC Computer Technology, Inc.	130
	Culture and Performance	131
	Summary	133
	Appendix: The Research Background	135
	Bibliography	139
	Index	145
	About the Author	148