

SABOTAGE

A Study in Industrial Conflict

Geoff Brown

SPOKESMAN BOOKS

Contents

Introduction	xi
Part One: SABOTAGE AND THE SYNDICALISTS
1 Emile Pouget and the C.G.T.	3
2 Syndicalism in Britain and the Labour Unrest, 1910-1914	23
3 The Industrial Workers of the World	41
Part Two: THE BACKGROUND TO SCIENTIFIC MANAGEMENT
4 Work-discipline, Machines and Output in 19th Century Britain	61
5 British Labour Productivity, 1890-1914	110
Part Three: TAYLORISM
6 Frederick Winslow Taylor and Scientific Man- agement	133
7 Scientific Management in Britain before 1914	148
Part Four: The FIRST WORLD WAR AND THE WAR AFTER THE WAR
8 The First World War	165
9 The War after the War	195
Part Five: BETWEEN THE WARS
10 'The Human Factor'	213
11 The Bedaux System	231
12 Stakhanovism or Socialism?	252

Part Six: 1939-1976

13	The Second World War	271
14	Productivity, 'Restrictive Practices', and Piece-work in the 1950s and 1960s	294
15	The Coal Industry and the National Power Loading Agreement	326
16	The Car Industry and Measured Day Work	353
	Index	391