

THE Craft OF Research

WAYNE C. BOOTH

GREGORY G. COLOMB

JOSEPH M. WILLIAMS

Ausgeschieden

Technische Universität Darmstadt
Bibliothek des Instituts für Philosophie/Soziologie

Datum: 6. Aug 1999

Inventar-Nr.: 99/472

C 1.1

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

Chicago & London

Contents

Preface ix

I RESEARCH, RESEARCHERS, AND READERS I

Prologue: Starting a Research Project 1

1 Thinking in Print: The Uses of Research, Public and Private 6

1.1 Why Do Research? 6

1.2 Why Write It Up? 8

1.3 Why Turn It into a Formal Paper? 9

2 Connecting with Your Reader: (Re)Creating Your Self and Your Audience 12

2.1 Conversations among Researchers 12

2.2 Writers, Readers, and Their Social Roles 13

2.3 Readers and Their Common Problems 19

2.4 Writers and Their Common Problems 23

QUICK TIP: A Checklist for Understanding Your Readers 26

II ASKING QUESTIONS, FINDING ANSWERS 29

Prologue: Planning Your Project 29

QUICK TIP: Writing in Groups 31

3 From Topics to Questions 35

3.1 Interests, Topics, Questions, and Problems 35

3.2 From an Interest to a Topic 36

3.3 From a Broad Topic to a Narrow One 37

3.4 From a Narrowed Topic to Questions 39

3.5 From a Question to Its Significance 42

QUICK TIP: Finding Topics 46

- 4 From Questions to Problems 48
- 4.1 Problems, Problems, Problems 48
- 4.2 The Common Structure of Problems 52
- 4.3 Finding a Research Problem 59
- 4.4 The Problem of the Problem 62
- 5 From Questions to Sources 64
- 5.1 Finding Information in Libraries 65
- 5.2 Gathering Information from People 68
- 5.3 Bibliographical Trails 71
- 5.4 What You Find 71
- 6 Using Sources 73
- 6.1 Using Secondary Sources 73
- 6.2 Read Critically 74
- 6.3 Take Full Notes 75
- 6.4 Get Help 80
- QUICK TIP: Speedy Reading 82
- III MAKING A CLAIM AND SUPPORTING IT 85
- Prologue: Arguments, Drafting, and Conversations* 85
- 7 Making Good Arguments: An Overview 88
- 7.1 Conversations and Arguments 88
- 7.2 Claims and Evidence 89
- 7.3 Warrants 90
- 7.4 Qualifications 92
- 8 Claims and Evidence 94
- 8.1 Making Strong Claims 94
- 8.2 Using Plausible Claims to Guide Your Research 96
- 8.3 Offering Reliable Evidence 97
- 8.4 Using Evidence to Develop and Organize Your Paper 104
- QUICK TIP: A Taxonomy of Contradictions 107
- 9 Warrants 111
- 9.1 Warrants: The Basis of Our Belief and Reasoning 111
- 9.2 What Does a Warrant Look Like? 113
- 9.3 The Quality of Warrants 115

- QUICK TIP: Challenging Warrants 127
- 10 Qualifications 132
- 10.1 A Review 132
- 10.2 Qualifying Your Argument 134
- 10.3 Building a Complete Argument 142
- 10.4 Argument as a Guide to Research and Reading 143
- 10.5 A Few Words about Strong Feelings 144
- QUICK TIP: Arguments—Two Common Pitfalls 146
- IV PREPARING TO DRAFT, DRAFTING, AND REVISING 149
- Prologue: Planning Again* 149
- QUICK TIP: Outlining 152
- 11 Pre-Drafting and Drafting 155
- 11.1 Preliminaries to Drafting 155
- 11.2 Planning Your Organization: Four Traps 157
- 11.3 A Plan for Drafting 160
- 11.4 Creating a Revisable Draft 165
- 11.5 The Pitfall to Avoid at All Costs 166
- 11.6 The Last Steps 170
- QUICK TIP: Using Quotation and Paraphrase 172
- 12 Communicating Evidence Visually 175
- 12.1 Visual or Verbal? 175
- 12.2 Some General Principles of Construction 178
- 12.3 Tables 179
- 12.4 Charts 182
- 12.5 Graphs 187
- 12.6 Controlling the Rhetorical Impact of a Visual 189
- 12.7 Visual Communication and Ethics 192
- 12.8 Connecting Words and Pictures 194
- 12.9 Scientific Visualization 194
- 12.10 Illustrations 195
- 12.11 Making the Logic of Your Organization Visible 196
- 12.12 Using Visual Forms as an Aid to Thinking 197

QUICK TIP: A Consumer's Guide to Visiting a Writing Tutor	199
13 Revising Your Organization and Argument	201
13.1 Thinking Like a Reader	201
13.2 Analyzing and Revising Your Organization	202
13.3 Revising Your Argument	209
13.4 The Last Step	211
QUICK TIP: Titles and Abstracts	212
14 Revising Style: Telling Your Story Clearly	215
14.1 Judging Style	215
14.2 A First Principle: Stories and Grammar	217
14.3 A Second Principle: Old before New	225
14.4 Choosing between Active and Passive	227
14.5 A Last Principle: Complexity Last	228
14.6 Spit and Polish	231
QUICK TIP: The Quickest Revision	232
15 Introductions	234
15.1 The Three Elements of an Introduction	234
15.2 State the Problem	237
15.3 Create a Common Ground of Shared Understanding	242
15.4 Unsettle the Common Ground with Your Statement of the Problem	242
15.5 State Your Response	245
15.6 Fast or Slow?	248
15.7 The Whole Introduction	248
QUICK TIP: First and Last Words	250
V SOME LAST CONSIDERATIONS	255
Research and Ethics	255
A Postscript for Teachers	259
A Bibliographical Essay	265
An Appendix on Finding Sources	271
Index	289