

A Grammar of Miya

Russell G. Schuh

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS

Berkeley • Los Angeles • London

Contents

Preface, xvii

Cross-referencing, Abbreviations, and Orthographic Conventions, xxi

1. THE MIYA PEOPLE AND LANGUAGE

1. Classification, Location, and Cultural Notes	1
2. Previous Work	5
3. The Present Study	6

2. SEGMENTAL PHONOLOGY

1. Consonants	12
1.1. Consonant inventory	12
1.1.1. Labial fricatives	12
1.1.2. Laryngeals	13
1.1.3. Prenasalized obstruents	13
1.1.4. Palatal obstruents	14
1.1.5. Examples of Miya consonants in context	14
1.2. Rules affecting consonants	15
1.2.1. Nasals in syllable codas	15
1.2.2. The realization of /gh/	17
2. Vowels	18
2.1. Vowel inventory	18
2.2. Vowel distribution and alternation	19
2.2.1. The vowel /ə/	19
2.2.2. Vowel length and the status of [i:] and [u:]	20
2.2.3. Diphthongs and monophthongization	22
2.2.3.1. Diphthongs as underlying /ay/ and /aw/	22
2.2.3.2. Monophthongization	22
2.2.4. Vowel elision	25
2.2.5. Neutralization of phrase final vowel length	26
3. Syllable and Word Structure	26
3.1. Syllable structure	26
3.1.1. Constraints on syllable codas	26
3.1.2. Position of /ə/ in syllables	29
3.2. Word structure	31
4. Morphological Palatalization	33

3. TONAL PHONOLOGY

1. Miya Tones and Tone Marking	37
1.1. Miya tone basics	37

1.2. Tone marking system	39
2. Lexical Tone Distribution	40
2.1. Verbs	40
2.2. Nouns	40
2.3. Other substantive word classes	46
3. Tone Rules	48
3.1. Major tone rules	48
3.2. Tone rule ordering and application	49
3.3. Further remarks on LOW RAISING	53
4. Floating L Tones	55
5. Non-Downstepping H's and Other Residual Tone Problems	62
6. Tonal Phrases	64
6.1. Tonal phrasing within noun phrases	64
6.2. Tonal phrasing within verb phrases	66
6.3. Some tonal non -phrases	67
6.4. Some likely cases: adjunct phrases	69
7. Remarks on the Prosodic Hierarchy in Miya	72
 4. VERBS AND VERBAL NOUNS
1. Verb Classes	77
1.1. Termination classes and segmental structure	77
1.1.1. -a and Ø lexical termination classes	77
1.1.2. Indirect object stems and participles	78
1.1.3. Vowel length of -a terminations	79
1.2. Tone classes	80
1.2.1. Summary of Miya tonal processes	80
1.2.2. Clitic tones	82
1.2.3. Verb tone classes	84
1.2.3.1. "L" POLYVERBS	85
1.2.3.2. "H H" POLYVERBS	87
1.2.3.3. "H L" POLYVERBS	90
1.2.3.3.1. Regular tonal properties	90
1.2.3.3.2. Tonal inconsistencies and assimilations	92
1.2.3.3.3. Pluractional "H L" verbs	93
1.2.3.4. "L" MONOVERBS	95
1.2.3.4.1. Regular tone patterns	95
1.2.3.4.2. MONOSYLLABIC "VERB WORD" RAISING	96
1.2.3.4.3. "L" MONOVERBS with IO clitics	97
1.2.3.4.4. Pluractionals of "L" MONOVERBS	98
1.2.3.5. "H" MONOVERBS	98
1.2.3.6. Imperative tones	100
1.2.3.6.1. Singular Imperatives	100
1.2.3.6.2. Plural Imperatives	101
1.2.3.6.3. First person plural Imperatives	103
1.2.3.7. Tonal patterns in non-native verbs	105
1.2.3.8. Tonal effects of verbs on following noun phrases	107

1.2.3.8.1. Verbs with objects	107
1.2.3.8.2. IO clitics followed by objects	108
1.2.3.8.3. Plural Imperative followed by objects	109
2. Verbal Nouns	109
2.1. Participles	110
2.1.1. Participle form	110
2.1.2. Participle function	110
2.2. Gerunds	112
2.2.1. Gerund form	112
2.2.2. Gerund function	114
2.3. Deverbal nouns	116
2.3.1. Deverbal noun form	116
2.3.2. Deverbal noun function	119
5. TENSE, ASPECT, MOOD (TAM) SYSTEM: VERB AND CLITIC FORMS
1. Overview of the Miya TAM System	121
2. Affirmative TAM's: subjects, auxiliaries, and verb forms	122
2.1. Verbal TAM's	122
2.1.1. Imperative	122
2.1.2. Hortative	122
2.1.3. Perfective	122
2.1.3.1. Perfective in clauses without questioned or focused constituents	123
2.1.3.2. Perfective with questioned or focused non -subjects	123
2.1.4. Counterfactual	124
2.2. Nominal TAM's	124
2.2.1. Subjunctive	124
2.2.2. Perfective with questioned or focused subject	127
2.2.3. Imperfective	128
2.2.3.1. Imperfective without additional auxiliaries	128
2.2.3.2. Continuative: Imperfective + àatáa 'on'	129
2.2.3.3. Imperfective with additional AUX g-	131
2.2.3.4. Imperfective with AUX ée	134
2.2.3.5. Future using the s'-...-áy Totality construction	135
2.2.4. Imperfective with questioned or focused subject: AUX jíy	136
2.2.5. Conditional Future with AUX á	137
2.2.6. Conditional kwáa	139
2.2.7. First person hortative: gà-PRO	139
2.2.8. Particles bíy and jíy with Negative Subjunctive and nominal TAM's	140
2.2.9. The clitic dá	141
3. Negative TAM's	143
3.1. Negative Perfective	144
3.2. Negative Counterfactual	145
3.3. Negative Subjunctive	145
3.4. Negative Imperfective	146
3.4.1. Negative Continuative	146
3.4.2. AUX n-àa in Negative Imperfective	147

3.5. Tones of negative markers	147
4. Pronominal Clitics with Verbal and Nominal TAM's	149
4.1. Intransitive Copy Pronouns (ICP)	149
4.2. Direct Objects (DO)	149
4.3. Indirect Objects (IO)	150
6. TENSE, ASPECT, MOOD (TAM) FUNCTIONS IN DISCOURSE
1. Discourse Structure	151
2. General Discourse Functions	152
2.1. Perfectivity	152
2.1.1. Completed events (anteriority)	152
2.1.2. States	154
2.2. Imperfectivity (durativity, habituality, posteriority)	157
2.3. Hortativity	162
2.4. Sequentiality	162
3. Narrative Discourse	164
3.1. Perfective and imperfective narrative discourse	165
3.2. Hortative narrative discourse	167
3.3. Descriptive narrative discourse	167
7. VERBAL EXTENSIONS AND VERB DERIVATION
1. Verbal Extensions: Does Miya Have Any?	169
2. Totality	170
2.1. Forms and syntactic conditions	170
2.2. Function and meaning of Totality	172
3. Pluractionals	175
4. Transitivity and Intransitivity	178
4.1. Lexically "intransitive" and lexically "neutral" verbs	178
4.1.1. Transitivity suffix -ay	178
4.1.2. Verbs of "neutral" transitivity	180
4.2. Intransitive Copy Pronouns (ICP)	181
5. Cognate Complements	183
5.1. Cognate complement form	183
5.2. Functions of cognate complements	184
8. PERSONAL PRONOUNS, NOUNS, AND ADJECTIVES
1. Personal Pronouns	187
1.1. Independent pronouns	187
1.2. Subject pronouns	187
1.3. Enclitic pronouns	189
1.4. Independent genitives	189
2. Nouns	190
2.1. Canonical noun structure	190
2.2. Gender	190
2.3. Plurals	193
2.3.1. Regular plural formation	193

2.3.2. Irregular and suppletive plurals	195
2.3.3. Plural agreement vs. gender agreement	197
2.3.4. Remark on the semantics of plurals	199
2.4. Miscellaneous nominal formatives	200
2.4.1. Prefix á-	200
2.4.2. Suffix -(wa)tə	202
2.4.3. Suffix -ay	203
3. Adjectives	203
4. Quantifiers and Numerals	205
4.1. Cardinal numbers	205
4.2. Ordinal numbers	207
4.3. Other quantifiers	207
5. Temporal Nominals, Adverbs, and Pro-Forms	208
6. Locative Nominals, Adverbs, and Pro-Forms	209
6.1. The “locative form” of nouns	209
6.2. Examples of words indicating location	211
6.2.1. Nouns indicating locations	211
6.2.2. Locative relational words (“prepositions”)	213
6.2.3. External relational terms	213
6.2.4. Non-locative nouns in locative constructions	214
6.3. Locative pro-forms: the word yí or 'iy	215
9. REFERENCE, DEFINITENESS, UNIVERSALITY, AND REFLEXIVITY
1. Indefinite Referentials: wíy, wíya, níywi	217
1.1. Affirmative clauses	217
1.2. Negative clauses	219
2. “The one(s) in question”: ká, kən/kən; wánà	221
2.1. ká	221
2.1.1. Ká as a marker of previous or implied reference	221
2.1.2. Ká as a topic marker	223
2.2. kən/kən	224
2.3. wánà	225
3. Demonstratives	225
3.1. náka (m), táka (f), níyka (pl)	225
3.1.1. náka , etc. as distal demonstratives	225
3.1.2. náka , etc. as meaning “previously mentioned”	225
3.2. nákən (m), tákən (f), níykin (pl)	227
3.2.1. nákən , etc. as proximal demonstratives	227
3.2.2. nákən , etc. meaning “previously mentioned”	227
3.2.3. nákən ... nákən ‘this one ... that one’	227
4. Noun Phrases without Determiners vs. Noun Phrases with Determiners	228
4.1. Referential nouns with specifiers other than determiners	228
4.1.1. Genitive phrases as determiners	228
4.1.2. Relative clauses as determiners	230
4.1.3. Numerals as determiners	230
4.2. Generic nouns	231

4.3. Inherently determined nouns	232
4.3.1. Unique or inherently definite nouns	232
4.3.2. Non-partitive plurals	232
4.4. Referential nouns without specifiers	233
4.4.1. Indefinites	233
4.4.2. Definites	233
5. Universality	234
5.1. "Distributive" universals: kóo-/kándà-...-éekiy 'every, each'	234
5.2. "Collective" universality: ndyâam 'all'	236
5.3. Universal relative constructions and conditionals	239
6. Reflexives and Reciprocals	240
6.1. Reflexives	240
6.1.1. Anaphoric reflexives	240
6.1.2. Emphatic reflexives	240
6.2. Reciprocals	241
10. NOUN PHRASE SYNTAX
1. Introduction	242
2. Determiners	242
2.1. "Previous Reference Markers" (PRM)	242
2.2. Demonstratives	243
2.3. Indefinites	245
3. Genitives	245
3.1. Direct genitives	246
3.1.1. Form of direct genitive constructions	246
3.1.2. Functions of the direct genitive	248
3.2. Independent genitives	251
3.2.1. Independent genitive pronouns and nominals	251
3.2.2. "... & Co.", "and others like ..."	252
3.3. Linked genitives	252
3.3.1. Form of linked genitives	252
3.3.2. Functions of the linked genitive	253
3.3.3. Locative genitives	254
3.4. Nominalized verbs with expressed arguments	255
3.4.1. Nominalized verbs with expressed subjects	255
3.4.2. Nominalized verbs with expressed objects	256
4. Adnominal Attributes	257
4.1. Attributive adjectives	257
4.2. Cardinal numerals and other quantifiers	258
4.3. "all"	259
4.4. Ordinal numerals	260
5. Constructions with BA/MA/SəBA 'one who has ..., does ...'	260
5.1. BA/MA/SəBA + simple noun or noun phrase	261
5.1.1. "Possessor of ..."	261
5.1.2. Agentive: 'one who does ...'	261
5.1.3. Statives	262

5.1.4. "Genitives" with BA/MA/SəBA	263
5.2. BA/MA/SəBA + clause: Relative Clauses	264
5.2.1. Subject relatives	266
5.2.1.1. Subject relatives with verbal clauses	266
5.2.1.2. Non-verbal subject relatives	268
5.2.2. Direct object relatives	269
5.2.3. Indirect object relatives	270
5.2.4. Instrumental relatives	270
5.2.5. Comitative relatives	271
5.2.6. Locative relatives	271
5.2.7. Temporal relatives	272
5.2.8. Genitive relatives	272
5.2.9. Manner relatives	272
5.2.10. Restrictive vs. non-restrictive relatives	273
5.2.11. Generic relative clauses: 'whoever ...', 'anyone who ...', etc.	273
5.3. BA/MA/SəBA with other sentential complement types	275
6. Conjoined Noun Phrases	276
7. Order of Constituents in "Long" Noun Phrases and "Heavy Shift"	277
11. THE SYNTAX OF SIMPLEX CLAUSES
1. Verbal Declarative Sentences	280
1.1. Basic verbal clause structure	280
1.1.1. SVX vs. VXS	280
1.1.2. Placement of discontinuous súw...áy Totality and má/tà...úw Negation	280
1.2. Subjects	281
1.2.1. Position of nominal subjects: the postverbal subject marker àà	281
1.2.1.1. Preverbal and postverbal subject orders both possible	281
1.2.1.1.1. Independent main clauses	281
1.2.1.1.2. Consecutive clauses in narrative	284
1.2.1.1.3. Complement clauses to verbs	285
1.2.1.1.4. Purpose and reason clauses	286
1.2.1.2. Postverbal order for subjects required	286
1.2.1.2.1. Relative clauses	286
1.2.1.2.2. Adverbial subordinate clauses	286
1.2.1.3. Preverbal order for subjects required: word questions and focus	287
1.2.1.4. Positioning of postverbal subjects with respect to other constituents	288
1.2.2. Referential pronominal subject vs. $\emptyset$ subjects	288
1.2.3. A discourse study of subject expressions	290
1.2.4. Impersonal subjects (French on , Hausa an , etc.)	292
1.2.5. Empty or "expletive" subjects (English it , Hausa ya , etc.)	293
1.3. Direct and indirect (dative or benefactive) objects	294
1.3.1. Nominal objects	294
1.3.2. Pronominal objects	296

1.3.3. Pronominal vs. Ø objects	297
1.3.4. A discourse study of object expressions	298
1.4. Locatives	300
1.4.1. Stationary locatives and goal locatives	300
1.4.2. Source or temporal inception: preposition áa` 'from'	302
1.5. Instruments: preposition àa`	303
1.6. Comitatives: prepositions ' ànáa` or ' àfáa`	304
1.6.1. Simple comitatives	304
1.6.2. Asymmetric coordination	305
1.7. Subjective complements (predicate nominals)	306
1.8. Objective complements ("small clauses"): preposition àa`	306
1.9. Quantifier complements	307
1.10. Manner adverbs (including ideophones)	308
1.11. Temporal adverbs	310
1.12. "For the purpose of ...", "for the sake of ..."	311
1.13. Pleonastic aa ("pln")	311
2. Imperatives and Hortatives	313
3. Comparison and Equation	314
4. Non-verbal Sentences	316
4.1. Equational and identification sentences	316
4.1.1. Simple equational and identificational sentences	316
4.1.2. Equational sentences with the auxiliary dà and Totality súw ... -áy	317
4.1.3. Equational sentences with a name as predicate	318
4.1.4. Negative equational and identificational sentences	318
4.2. Adjectival and quantifier predicates	319
4.3. Possessive ('have') sentences	319
4.4. Existential sentences	321
4.5. Locative sentences	322
4.6. Stative sentences	322
4.7. Presentative sentences ("here is ...", "there is ...")	324
12. QUESTIONS, FOCUS, AND TOPICALIZATION
1. Yes/No Questions	326
2. Questioned and Focused Constituents	330
2.1. General features	330
2.1.1. Question words and the question marker à , wà , or na	330
2.1.2. Questions and focus: shared syntactic features	331
2.2. Questions and focus in verbal clauses	332
2.2.1. Subjects	332
2.2.2. Direct and indirect objects	334
2.2.3. Locatives	336
2.2.4. Instruments	336
2.2.5. Comitatives	337
2.2.6. Manner	337
2.2.7. Time	337
2.2.8. Purpose or reason	337

2.2.9. Genitive	338
2.2.10. Verb and auxiliary focus	338
2.3. Questions and focus syntax in non-verbal clauses	338
2.3.1. Equational and identificational sentences	339
2.3.1.1. Questioned or focused subject in equational sentences	339
2.3.1.2. Questioned or focused predicate in equational and identificational sentences	340
2.3.2. 'HAVE' sentences	341
2.3.3. Locative sentences	342
3. Echo and Rhetorical Questions	342
4. Focus by Pseudo-clefting	343
5. Topics	345
5.1. Pragmatics of topic vs. focus	345
5.2. The syntax of topics vs. focus	346
5.3. Illustration and discussion of topics	349
13. CLAUSAL COMPLEMENTS
1. Introduction: Givón's Typology of Clausal Complements	353
2. Implicative Verbs	354
2.1. Self-inducement verbs: 'begin', 'finish', 'repeat', etc.	354
2.2. Manipulative verbs: 'cause', 'prevent', 'allow'	355
3. Verbs of Emotion, Intention, and Strong Attempt	357
3.1. Self-inducement verbs with nominalized complements: 'be able', 'try', 'refuse'	357
3.2. Self-inducement verbs with Subjunctive complements: 'try', 'intend', 'plan'	358
3.3. Self-inducement/manipulative verbs with Subjunctive complements: 'want', 'fear', 'agree'	358
4. Epistemic Verbs	359
4.1. Cognition verbs: 'hope', 'remember', 'forget', 'know', 'think'	360
4.2. Perception verbs: 'hear', 'see', 'discover'	361
5. Expressions with Propositional Subjects	362
5.1. Transactional expressions: 'happen'	362
5.2. Modal expressions: 'be fitting', 'be necessary', 'be possible'	363
5.3. "Tough Movement" expressions: 'be difficult'	364
6. Direct and Indirect Speech	365
6.1. Direct quotation	365
6.2. Indirect statements	365
6.3. Indirect commands and exhortations	366
6.4. Names as complements to verbs of 'calling'	367
6.5. Indirect questions	367
14. ADVERBIAL CLAUSES AND PHRASES
1. Introduction	370
1.1. Pronominal subject position in adverbial clauses	370
1.2. Nominal subject position in adverbial clauses	371

2. Conditional Clauses	372
2.1. Simple conditionals	372
2.1.1. kwáa ... ká 'when, if'	372
2.1.1.1. Form of kwáa ... ká clauses	372
2.1.1.2. Functions of kwáa ... ká clauses	373
2.1.2. tá(n) ... [ká] 'if'	375
2.1.2.1. Form of tá(n) ... [ká] clauses	375
2.1.2.2. Functions of tá(n) ... [ká] clauses	376
2.2. Concessive conditionals	378
2.3. Generic conditionals: "WH ... ever", "no matter WH ..."	380
2.4. Counterfactual and hypothetical conditionals: bà ... [ká]	384
3. Cohesion and Sequence Marking	385
3.1. Cohesive clauses: dàga/dàg-ée vs. kwáa	385
3.2. Sequence marking	387
3.2.1. Subjunctive	387
3.2.2. Jíy, j-ée in perfective discourse	387
3.2.3. Sequence closing events: súw + nominalization + -áy	389
4. 'Before' Clauses	390
5. 'After' Clauses	391
6. Temporal Clauses: 'when ...', 'at the time that ...'	392
7. 'Until' and 'not until' clauses: hár, kwápa	393
8. Circumstantial Clauses	395
9. Reason and Purpose Clauses and Phrases	397
9.1. Reason clauses	398
9.2. Purpose clauses and phrases: 'so that', 'in order to'	398
Appendix I. Pronouns , 401
Appendix II. Verb Classes , 404
References , 411	