

277

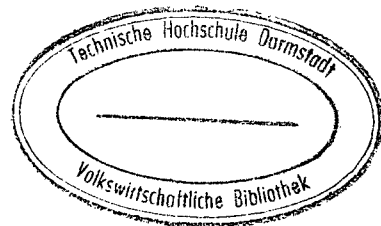

World Bank Discussion Papers

Energy Demand in Five Major Asian Developing Countries

Structure and Prospects

Masayasu Ishiguro
Takamasa Akiyama

The World Bank
Washington, D.C.

CONTENTS

Page No.

Foreword	ix
Abstract	x
Acknowledgments	xii
Weights and Measures	xiii
Acronyms	xiii
Executive Summary	xv
Introduction	1
1. Recent Developments in Energy Supply and Demand in Asian Developing Countries	5
Overview	5
China	10
India	14
Indonesia	17
Korea	19
Thailand	23
2. Energy Policy	27
Overview	27
China	28
India	31
Indonesia	36
Korea	38
Thailand	41
3. Energy Efficiency and Conservation in the Industrial Sector	45
Overview	45
The Iron and Steel Industry	49
The Cement Industry	59
The Fertilizer Industry	67
The Pulp and Paper Industry	77
4. Energy Efficiency and Conservation in the Transportation Sector	88
Overview	88
China's Transportation Sector	90
India's Transportation Sector	94
Indonesia's Transportation Sector	99
Korea's Transportation Sector	102
Thailand's Transportation Sector	105
Measures to Increase Energy Efficiency in Asia's Transportation Sector	108
5. Energy Efficiency and Conservation in the Household Sector	112
Overview	112
China's Household Sector	113

	India's Household Sector.....	115
	Indonesia's Household Sector.....	116
	Korea's Household Sector.....	117
	Thailand's Household Sector.....	118
	End-Use Efficiency and Conservation Opportunities.....	120
6.	Energy Losses and Conservation in the Electric Power Sector	124
	Overview	124
	Energy Losses in Power Generation.....	125
	Energy Losses in Transmission and Distribution.....	128
	Measures to Reduce Energy Losses	132
7.	Prospects for Energy Demand	134
	Overview	134
	Methods and Key Elasticities	135
	Model Simulation Results of Projections	144
8.	Policies and Measures for Energy Conservation	158
	Appendix	164
	Bibliography	174