Contents

	List of Tables	ix
	Preface	xv
Chapter 1	Introductory Remarks	1
	Recent Price Behavior and the Intent of This Research	1
	An Overview of What Follows	3
Chapter 2	Theory and Hypotheses of Price Formation	7
	Theoretical Basis of Pricing	7
	Price Formation Hypotheses	9
Chapter 3	General Survey of Price Formation Studies	21
	General Critique of Economy Price Studies	21
	General Critique of Sector Price Studies	26
	General Critique of Industry Price Studies	34
Chapter 4	Reexamination of Selected Price Formation Studies	45
	The Klein and Ball Study	45
	The Liu Study	48
	The Nield Study	50
	Schultze and Tryon: The Brookings Model Study	56
	The Fromm and Eckstein Study	59
	The Laden Study	61
	The Eckstein and Wyss Study	63
Chapter 5	Industry Selection, Model Selection and Modification, and Organization of the Analysis	67

	Sector and Industry Selection	67
	Model Selection and Variable Modification	68
	Organization of the Analysis	76
Chapter 6	Reestimation of Existent Price Models	79
	Analysis by Hypotheses Categories	80
	Best Price Equation from Past Specifications for each Industry	96
	Tentative Conclusions Regarding Price Behavior within Different Industry Groupings	101
Chapter 7	Estimation of Final Industry Price Equations	111
	Specification of Final Industry Price Equations	111
	Hypotheses Represented by Final Price Equations and Pricing Behavior Exhibited by Selected Industry Groupings	113
	Comparison of Final and Best Reestimated Price Equations	121
	Industry-Specific Conclusions	127
Chapter 8	Simulations Using Stage of Processing Industry Price Models	137
	Material and Consumer Price Equations	138
	Industry Price Models	139
	Ex Post Simulations	145
	Policy Simulations	149
Chapter 9	General Conclusions and Suggested Areas for Further Research	167
	General Conclusions	167
	Areas for Further Research	170

	Appendixes	173
A.	Sources of Data, Variable Construction, and Time Periods of Data Availability	175
B.	Industry Classification	183
C.	Means, Standard Deviations, and Coefficients of Variation of Price Variables	185
D.	Tables and Plots Related to Final Industry Price Equations	187
E.	Component Contributions and Modified Regressors for Industry Models	217
F.	Alphabetical Listing of Variables	235
	Bibliography	241
	Index	255
	About the Author	259
