

Norman LaPorte

The German Communist Party in Saxony, 1924–1933

Factionalism, Fratricide and Political Failure

PETER LANG

Oxford • Bern • Berlin • Bruxelles • Frankfurt am Main • New York • Wien

Contents

Acknowledgements.....	9
Abbreviations and Glossary.....	11
Map of Saxony.....	15
1 Factionalism, Fratricide and Political Failure: An Introduction to the KPD	17
2 The Saxon Setting.....	39
3 Stalinisation by a Different Name: Ruth Fischer, Left-Wing Communism and Saxony	79
4 'Stalinisation' and its Limits in the Saxon KPD, 1925–1928.....	133
5 The Saxon KPD's 'Unity Campaigns' in the Context of the Fragmentation of the Saxon Political System.....	175
6 'Social Fascism' and Saxony: The Roots and Reception of the 'Left-Turn' in the KPD, 1928–1929.....	237
7 Doppelgänger or Deadly Enemies? The Saxon KPD and the Nazis, 1930–1933	299
8 Factionalism, Fratricide and Political Failure: A Conclusion.....	361
9 Statistical Appendix	371
Bibliography	377