

Karen Brecht · Volker Friedrich · Ludger M. Hermanns · Isidor J. Kaminer · Dierk H. Juelich
(editors)

“Here life goes on in a most peculiar way...”

Psychoanalysis before and after 1933

English edition prepared by Hella Ehlers

Translation by Christine Trollope
Translation consultant Joyce Crick

KE[L]NER

Contents

Acknowledgements	6	5. The dissolution of the Wiener Psychoanalytische Vereinigung (WPV) (Vienna Psychoanalytical Association) and the Internationaler Psychoanalytischer Verlag	142
Preface	7
Introduction	9
A - Early days and heyday of psychoanalysis
1. Karl Abraham: The beginnings of psychoanalysis in Germany	16	6. The German Institute for Psychological Research and Psychotherapy: – Foundation and development	146
2. Freud's early influence as exemplified by Arthur Muthmann	22	– Mathias Heinrich Göring, Head of the German Institute	148
3. »Old wives' psychiatry« and »a psychical epidemic«	24	– Structure and activity of the Institute	154
4. Georg Groddeck and the birth of psycho- analytical psychosomatics	26	– Herbert Linden. Integration of the German Institute in the National Socialist system	162
5. Psychoanalysis in the First World War	28	7. The position and responsibilities of the Berlin psychoanalysts in the German Institute
6. Max Eitingon and the Berlin Psychoanalytical Institute	32	– Werner Kemper	164
7. Lay analysis as exemplified by Hans Kalischer	38	– Felix Boehm	168
8. From the »Children's Seminar« to the »Circular Letter« the »Marxist opposition« in the IPA	40	– Harald Schultz-Hencke	172
9. Dissemination	46	– Carl Müller-Braunschweig	174
10. The psychoanalytical clinic of the Schloss Tegel Sanatorium	50	– Psychoanalysis in the German Institut	180
11. The Frankfurt Psychoanalytical Institute	56	8. John F. Rittmeister	186
12. The Internationaler Psychoanalytischer Verlag	66
B - Persecution and Emigration		D - Reconstruction
1. Persecution and emigration in Germany	72	1. Rebuilding an Institute for Psychotherapy	192
2. The fate of the Hungarian Psychoanalysts during the time of Fascism	92	2. Reconstitution of the German Psychoanalytical Society (DPG)	198
C - Psychoanalysis under National Socialism		3. Foundation of the Deutsche Psychoanalytische Vereinigung (DPV) [German Psychoanalytical Association]	208
1. The defamation of psychoanalysis	98	4. The first institutes of the DPV outside Berlin	230
2. First reactions to the establishment of the National Socialist regime	112	5. The German Psychoanalytical Association (DPV)	232
3. The arrest of Edith Jacobsohn	126
4. Accommodation and co-ordination (Selbstgleichschaltung)	138	Addendum
		Report on Dr. John Rickmann Introduction by Regine Locket	234
		Bibliography	240
		Sources	242
		Abbreviations	243
		Index	244