Markets and democracy: participation, accountability and efficiency

Edited by

SAMUEL BOWLES
Department of Economics, University of Massachusetts, Amherst

HERBERT GINTIS
Department of Economics, University of Massachusetts, Amherst

and

BÖ GUSTAFSSON
Department of Economic History, University of Uppsala and Director, Swedish Collegium for Advanced Studies in Social Sciences
Contents

List of figures  xii
List of tables  xiii

Preface  Bo Gustafsson  xv

1 Post-Walrasian political economy  1
   Samuel Bowles and Herbert Gintis
   1 Introduction: new light on an old debate  1
   2 Post-Walrasian democratic theory  2
   3 Walras' fiction  4
   4 Walrasian economics and post-Walrasian political economy  5
   5 Varieties of post-Walrasian economics  9

Part I Agency, incentives, and democratic accountability  11

2 The democratic firm: an agency-theoretic evaluation  13
   Samuel Bowles and Herbert Gintis
   1 Introduction  13
   2 The employment relationship and contested exchange  15
   3 Short-side power and democratic accountability  20
   4 Market failures arising from contested exchange  21
   5 The efficiency of the democratic firm in regulating work  27
   6 Impediments to the success of the democratic firm in a competitive capitalist economy  31
   7 Conclusion  34

3 Alternative employment and payment systems  40
   D. M. Nuti
   1 Wage employment: fixed rate, subjection, and job insecurity  40
   2 Permutations of the employment contract  40
   3 Lowering the marginal cost of labor  40
   4 Cyclical flexibility of earnings  42
   5 Productivity enhancement  42
   6 Overclaims  42
   7 Profit, capital gains, and capital-sharing  43
   8 Power-sharing  43
   9 Job security  44
Contents

10 Cooperatives 44
11 Meade’s labor–capital partnerships 45
12 From dependent workers to part-time co-entrepreneurs 46

Part II Institutions and institutional change 49

4 Toward a framework for analyzing institutions and institutional change 51
Leonid Hurwicz

1 Introduction 51
2 Mechanisms and adjustment processes 52
3 Institutions 58

5 Imperfect choice and rule-governed behavior 68
Ronald A. Heiner

1 Introduction 68
2 From imperfect choice to predictable behavior 68
3 Analytical tools for studying imperfect choice 69
4 Rule-governed plus information-ignoring behavior 75
5 Instinctive rules in non-human behavior 78
6 Dynamic rules and ethics in human exchange 80
7 Rule instability with sufficient intelligence 82
8 Agreement versus stability of social rules 83
9 Conclusion 84

6 Organizational equilibria and institutional stability 86
Ugo Pagano

1 Introduction 86
2 The New Institutional view of the firm 86
3 A “radical” inversion of the New Institutional view 89
4 Property rights/technological equilibria: a simple model 94
5 Generalization of the argument, drawing an “inverted” Williamson contracting scheme 103
6 Conclusion 110

7 Agency problems and the future of comparative systems’ theory 116
Mieke Meurs

1 Introduction 116
2 Agency problems and comparative systems 117
3 Toward a new paradigm 123

Part III Conditions for the success of the democratic firm 127

8 After the employment relation: problems on the road to enterprise democracy 129
Louis Putterman

1 Introduction 129
1. Why capital hires labor, revisited
2. Conceptualizing the transition to democratic enterprises
3. The labor-managed economy: labor and product markets
4. Finance and property rights in capital
5. Participation, empowerment, and the workplace
6. Conclusion

9. Unions versus cooperatives
   Karl Ove Moene and Michael Wallerstein
   1. Introduction
   2. Competitive capitalist equilibrium
   3. Competitive equilibrium with workers’ cooperatives
   4. Capitalist equilibrium with collective bargaining
   5. Bargaining rights versus property rights

10. Demand variability and work organization
    David I. Levine
    1. Introduction
    2. Literature review
    3. The model
    4. Statistical evidence
    5. Conclusions

11. Democracy versus appropriability: can labor-managed firms flourish in a capitalist world?
    Gregory K. Dow
    1. Introduction
    2. Output choice, expected dividends, and organizational form
    3. Investment incentives and organizational form
    4. Evolutionary outcomes and welfare comparisons
    5. Failures in the market for LMF membership

Part IV. Productivity, distribution, and power

12. Cooperation, conflict, and control in organizations
    Avner Ben-Ner
    1. Introduction
    2. Definitions
    3. Control as a consequence of incentives for cooperation and conflict
    4. The exercise of ultimate control: organizational design
    5. The allocation of ultimate control in organizations
    6. Conclusions
Contents

Part IV Wage bargaining and the choice of production technique in capitalist firms

- Gilbert L. Skillman and Harl E. Ryder
  - 1 Introduction
  - 2 The bargaining game
  - 3 Bargaining outcomes and the firm’s choice of technique
  - 4 Discussion
  - 5 Conclusions

Part V Ownership, participation, and capital markets

14 The motivational role of an external agent in the informationally-participatory firm

- Masahiko Aoki
  - 1 Introduction
  - 2 The value of participatory information-processing
  - 3 The incentive difficulties of pure workers’ control
  - 4 The P-value-enhancing role of an external agent
  - 5 Institutional remarks

15 Unstable ownership

- Tone Ognedal
  - 1 Introduction
  - 2 The model
  - 3 Instability
  - 4 Restrictions on the trade with shares
  - 5 Conclusions

16 The simple analytics of a membership market in a labor-managed economy

- Ernst Fehr
  - 1 Introduction
  - 2 A legal structure for labor-managed firms
  - 3 Demand and supply for membership rights
  - 4 Membership adjustment and the shut-down condition
  - 5 LMF-maximand, comparative statics, and turnover
  - 6 Labor-market equilibrium and shock absorption properties
  - 7 Membership markets for different types of labor
  - 8 Differential income shares for identical workers
  - 9 Summary and conclusions
Contents

Part VI Political democracy and economic democracy 277

17 Investment planning in market socialism 279
   Ignacio Ortuño-Ortín, John E. Roemer and Joaquim Silvestre
   1 Introduction 279
   2 The economic environment 282
   3 Constrained Walrasian equilibrium: a command-market-thought experiment 283
   4 A generalization of Lange's idea 285
   5 Direct provision of investment by the state 288
   6 The sales-tax model 289
   7 Conclusion 292
   2* The economic environment 294
   3* Constrained Walrasian equilibrium: a command-market-thought experiment 295
   4* A generalization of Lange's idea 296
   5* Direct provision of investment by the state 298
   6* The sales-tax model 299

18 Capitalism and democracy: a summing up of the arguments 306
   Martin L. Weitzman
   1 Introduction 306
   2 Some definitions 307
   3 Capitalism and socialism 309
   4 Capitalism and democracy 312
   5 Conclusion 315

   Bibliography 316
   Author index 335
   Subject index 338