

PRINCIPLES OF INTERNATIONAL POLITICS

PEOPLE'S POWER, PREFERENCES, AND PERCEPTIONS

THIRD EDITION

Bruce Bueno de Mesquita

New York University

and

Hoover Institution at Stanford University

A Division of Congressional Quarterly Inc.
Washington, D.C.

CONTENTS

World Map ii

Tables, Figures, and Maps xiv

Preface xvii

Introduction: Foundations of International Politics 1

- Governing Principles 2
- Organizational Features of This Book 5
- The Core Concerns of International Relations 7
- Solving International Relations Puzzles 13
- Summary 20
- Suggested Reading 21
- Key Concepts 21

1. Modern Political Economic History and International Politics 22

- The Fourteen Hundreds 24
- The Fifteen Hundreds 28
- The Sixteen Hundreds 30
- The Seventeen Hundreds 33
- The Eighteen Hundreds 36
- The Twentieth Century 40
- Summary 52
- Key Concepts 52

2. Evaluating Arguments about International Politics 53

- Theories as Simplifications of Reality 53
- Judging Theories 57
- The First Principle of Wing-walking 63
- The Case Study Method and Testing Theories 68
- A Standard for Comparing Theories 72
- Why Do We Need Theories? 73
- The Scientific Method as a Guide to Arguments and Evidence 77
- When a Theory Is Wrong 79
- Scientific Theories Must Be Falsifiable 81

- Summary 82
Key Concepts 83
- 3. Christopher Columbus and International Relations 84
Columbus's Proposal, or Ferdinand and Isabella's Ambition 85
Factors That Shape Foreign Policy Choices 86
Discovering America: An Evaluation of Political Economy and National Security 89
Lessons Suggested by Columbus's Experience 94
Tools and Solutions: An Illustration of the Use of Decision Theory in the Study of International Relations 98
Game Theory, or Why You Can't Always Get What You Want 106
Summary 115
Key Concepts 116
- 4. International Politics from a Structural Perspective 117
Evaluating Alternative Principles 118
Defining the Puzzles of Cooperation and Conflict 119
Structural Perspectives 124
Summary 153
Key Concepts 156
- 5. International Politics from Group and Decision-making Perspectives 157
The Bureaucratic, or Interest Group, Perspective 158
Strategic Perspective 172
Constructivism 175
Comparing the Core Perspectives 179
The Three Perspectives Illustratively Applied to Columbus 192
Summary 195
Key Concepts 197
- 6. Domestic Politics and International Interactions:
The Central Units of Analysis 198
The Origins of the State 199
International Relations without the State 202
Domestic Politics as an Alternative to the State 204
How Domestic Politics Changes the National Interest 206
End of the Cold War: Win Sets as a Tool for Understanding Policy 207
Alternative Interpretations of the Domestic Politics Example 229
Summary 231
Key Concepts 232

7. What Is Power?	233
Defining Power	234
Methods of Exercising Power	236
Measuring Power	248
The Fungibility of Power	254
Projecting Power over Larger Distances	259
Summary	261
Key Concepts	262
8. Limits to Power	263
Power and Military Victory	264
Power Can Be Cyclical	266
Coordination and Power	269
Distribution Problems, Coordination Problems, and Power	270
International Organizations: An Alternative to or Reflection of Power?	279
Power and Motivation	284
Asymmetric Motivation and Costs	292
The Exercise of Power	296
Summary	300
Key Concepts	301
9. Preferences in International Politics	302
Preferred Values and U.S. Foreign Policy: An Illustration	303
What Are Preferences?	307
Rationality and Preferences	308
Preferences and Constrained Choices	309
Foreign Aid, Preferences, and Decisions	309
Constrained Choice in International Relations: Some Examples	317
Social Choice Problems: Is There a National Interest?	325
Common Circumstances without the Social Choice Problem	333
Summary	341
Key Concepts	342
10. Perceptions in International Affairs	343
Perceptions and Reality	345
Perceptions and Trade Sanctions: An Illustration	352
Summary	371
Key Concepts	372
11. Perceptions, Deterrence, and Terrorism	373
Perceptions and Deterrence	374
North Korea's Artful Use of Misconduct	383

Perceptions and Deterrence: The Wars in Iraq, 1991 and 2003	386
Beliefs about Terrorism	395
Terrorism, Credible Commitments, and Strategic Dilemmas	401
Land for Peace: A Credible Commitment Problem	410
Summary	411
Key Concepts	412
12. Domestic Institutions and National Performance	413
Universal Political Institutions	415
Tools to Remain in Power	418
Winning Coalition Size and Trade Policy	425
Evidence: Winning Coalition Size and Economic Performance	431
Winning Coalition Size and National Survival	433
Domestic Political Institutions and the Democratic Peace	436
Domestic Institutions and Foreign Aid	440
Domestic Institutions and Democratization: Nation Building	443
Summary	445
Key Concepts	446
13. The International Political Economy of Trade	447
Globalization in Historical Perspective	450
An Economics Primer: Comparative Advantage, Supply, and Demand	453
Trade as a Public or Private Good	463
Currency, Exchange Rates, and International Political Economy	464
Political Economy and Trade	469
Factors of Production	472
Mobility of Factors of Production	474
Summary	483
Key Concepts	483
14. International Organizations and International Law	484
International Law, Organizations, and Regimes: Definitions and Distinctions	485
Can We Evaluate the Effects of International Regimes?	492
Sovereignty: A Successful International Institution	498
The Purpose of International Rules and Institutions	505
Member Inclusiveness: Trade-offs between Regime Efficiency and Effectiveness	511
Organizational Decision-making Rules	514
Compliance and Effectiveness	523
Summary	526
Key Concepts	527
15. Alliances	528
What Is a Military Alliance?	529

The Purpose of Alliances	531
When Are Alliances Reliable?	535
Predicting the Reliability of Alliances	539
Alliances, Coordination, and Competition	546
Conflict among Allies	551
Summary	557
Key Concepts	558
16. The Causes of War: Structural Accounts	559
War versus Negotiation: Indivisibility, Uncertainty, and Commitment	560
Realist Theories of War	564
How Well Does Neorealism Do in Explaining War and Instability?	565
History and Neorealist Empirical Claims	576
Other Neorealist Hypotheses and the Historical Record	580
The Power Transition: A Structural Alternative to Neorealism	585
Summary	594
Key Concepts	595
17. Strategic Theories of War	596
The International Interaction Game and War	597
Arms Races, Deterrence, and War	615
Other Hypotheses about War	621
Summary	625
Key Concepts	626
18. A Predictive Model of International Affairs	627
Logical Foundation of the Model	629
Perceptual Analysis	633
Estimating the Model	638
Why Does This Model Help?	640
Intuition behind the Model's Dynamics	641
Developing the Data	642
Model Output	646
Prediction and International Relations	653
Using the Model	658
Key Concepts	659
Notes	661
Glossary of Key Terms	694
Subject Index	711
Citations of Authors	729