

Feminine and Opposition Journalism
in Old Regime France

Le Journal des Dames

Nina Rattner Gelbart

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS

Berkeley

Los Angeles

London

Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| PREFACE | xi |
| INTRODUCTION Journalism, Feminism, and the Frondeur Tradition | 1 |
| 1 Feminine Journalism in the Pre-Revolutionary Undertow: M. de Campigneulles Tests the Waters (1759) | 38 |
| 2 Chivalric Journalism Gets a Social Conscience: M. de la Louptière and the Parterre (1761) | 67 |
| 3 An Editrice Hides in the Frondeur Temple: Mme de Beaumer, the Prince de Conti, and the Dutch Connection (1761–1763) | 95 |
| 4 From Success at Versailles to Provincial Patriotisme : Mme de Maisonneuve and the Jansenist Mathon de la Cour (1763–1769) | 133 |
| 5 Marie Antoinette’s Journalist Protégée: Mme de Montanclos and Maupeou’s Disgrace (1774–1775) | 170 |
| 6 Theater Criticism and the Journalistic Purge: M. Mercier’s Network versus the Comédie-Française (1775–1776) | 207 |
| 7 M. Dorat’s Whitewashed Mélanges littéraires (1777–1778): Frondeur Journalism in the Diaspora | 248 |
| CONCLUSION | 291 |
| APPENDIX | 305 |
| BIBLIOGRAPHY | 307 |
| INDEX | 331 |