

Rudolf Bader

The Visitable Past

Images of Europe in Anglo-Australian Literature

PETER LANG

Bern · Frankfurt am Main · New York · Paris · Wien

CONTENTS

Foreword	8
1. Introduction: The Quest for Models	9
The Inadequacy of the Paradigm of National Literatures in the English-Speaking World	9
Four Hermeneutical Models Reflecting the Tension between Commonality and Diversity in Literature Written in English	10
Dependent Cultures, Anglo-European Literatures and Their Continuous Dialogue with Britain	13
Thesis of This Study	16
2. The Facts in the Case of Australian Literature	23
1. The Australian Configuration	23
The Adaptation Process in the Australian Context	24
The Dual Aspect of Anglo-Australian Literature	27
The Celtic Presence	35
Further Constituting Factors	37
The Dual Aspect of the Australian Condition and Its Imagological Implications	40
2. What is Australian Literature? Phases of a Dialogue	48
Difficulties of Definition	48
A Diachronic Analysis of the Continuous British-Australian Interrelatedness:
The Pre-Gold-Rush Phase (1788-1850)	50
The Gold-Rush Phase (1851-1890)	51
Nationalism and Turn of the Century (1890-1914)	52
The Great War (1914-1918)	55
The Twenties and the Great Depression (1919-1939)	57

The Second World War (1939-1945).....	61
The Post-War Phase: The Age of Patrick White (since 1945).....	63
3. The Relevant Methodological Background	75
3. Images of Britain and the British	83
1. Yearning for Home and Rejection of the Old Country	83
Positive Answers from Australia: Home, the Noble Island, Aristocratic Order and Metropolitan Standards	83
Negative Answers from Australia: Bad Weather, Poverty, Squalor and Rigid Authority	94
2. Myth-Makers and Australian Nationalism.....	103
Australian Nationalism and Attitudes to Britain	103
Emerging Australian Autostereotypes of the Period: A Democratic, Egalitarian, Rural Working-Class Society	106
Images of Britain in the Nationalist Phase: High Culture, the Literary Tradition and Cultural Exploitation of the Colonies	107
3. Literary Images of Britain in the Twentieth Century.....	118
3.1. From Idyllic Idealization of the Cultural Centre to Rejection of Cold and Cruel Rigidity: The Dynamic Psychological Response of Henry Handel Richardson	118
Positive Images of Britain: Home, the Cultural Centre, the Lyric Tints of the Landscape and the Visitable Past	120
Negative Images of Britain: A Class-Ridden Black Hole	130
3.2. From a Sense of the Past to the Rejection of British Arrogance: The Aesthetic and Ethical Response of Martin Boyd.....	138
Martin Boyd's Dual Allegiance.....	138
The (European) Past Within Us: Family History, Tradition, Genealogy and Landscape	140
Aristocratic Culture and a Taste for the Fine Arts.....	146
Where the Anglo-Australian Minds Were Born: True Social Standards and the Soul of a Great Nation	148

	Martin Boyd's Critical Images of Britain: A Country of Poodle-Fakirs and Popinjays, Less Civilized than Australia	150
3.3.	From the Use of Traditional Clichés for the Drama of the Person to the Widening of the Imagological Perspective: The Dramatic Social Response of Christina Stead	164
	The Making of a Metropolitan Novelist: Cosmopolitan Broad-Mindedness and a Keen Interest in Social Behaviour ..	164
	Christina Stead's Use of Traditional Australian Heterostereotypes of Britain: Foggy Dickensian London and the Weak, Tea-Drinking English	166
	The Widening of the Geographical and Sociological Scope: The Use of Continental Stereotypes, the Imperial View, the Industrial North and the Lower Orders	171
3.4.	From the Stereotype of Metropolitan Anonymity to the Subversive Irony of Fascinated Disgust: The Influential Spiritual Response of Patrick White.....	180
	The Biographical Background and the European Cultural Tradition: Family, Education, Literary Conditioning and the Implications of the Nobel Prize	180
	Hermeneutical Difficulties and the Dualistic Arrangement of British (European) and Australian Culture.....	182
	Patrick White's Treatment of Traditional Australian Stereotypes of Britain: The Solid, Grey, Lovely-Old Materialist Invaders	184
	Patrick White's New Imagological Directions: The Irony of Fascinated Disgust with Britain's Decay and Cultural Exhaustion Leading to a Shift of Focus towards the Continent	195
3.5.	Imagological Tensions and Developments: A Preliminary Conclusion	201
	The Persistence of Traditional Australian Stereotypes of Britain as a Starting-Point for Writers in the 20th Century....	201
	Australia's Double Aspect: The Imagological Expression of the Adaptation Process	203
	The Situation Today: The Creative Potential of the Imagological Tension between Britain and Australia.....	205

4. Images of Continental Europe	209
1. Germany and the Germans	215
The European Background: From Grobianic and Faustian Stereotypes to Coleridge's Romantic View of Germany.....	215
The Transfer to Australia: Christopher Brennan's and Henry Handel Richardson's Differing Responses to the People of Musicians, Poets and Thinkers	217
Images of the German Enemy and Their Adaptation in the Works of Martin Boyd and Christina Stead.....	222
Patrick White's Germany: His Romantic Reconstruction of the Past.....	227
The Post-War Situation: Reconciliation with Germany, the Persistence of Gothic Horror and the German Übermensch.....	231
2. France and the French	238
The European Background: From the Gay and Inconstant Frenchman of the Elizabethan Stage to the Gallant, Theatrical and Frivolous Lover of the Romantic Clichés	238
The Transfer to Australia: The Great War and the Discovery of Cultural Affinity and Comradeship with the French.....	241
Christina Stead and the Cliché of Paris as the Metropolis of Sin	244
Martin Boyd's Use of the Grand Tour, the Wantonness of the French Influence and the Dichotomy of the Classic and the Gothic Worlds in France.....	248
Patrick White, the Escape to the Jardin Exotique of France and the Gothic Shell of Europe: Decadence and Filth	255
3. Italy and the Italians.....	264
The European Background: The Elizabethan Stage and the Travel Writings on Italian Gentility, Gentleness, Strong Passions and Ancient Art.....	264
The Transfer to Australia: The Recognition of the Italian Cultural Heritage. Painting, Music, Ceremony and Sentimentality	267
A. D. Hope, the Eternal City and Italy's Past Glory in Old and Modern Variations: The Return to the Source	272

Martin Boyd's Central Attachment to the Classic Image of Italy:
Adequate Proportions and True Human Relationships.....276

Shirley Hazzard's Italy: The Nostalgic Setting as a Turning Point and a Learning Process283

David Malouf's Subversive Use of Traditional Imag-es of Italy:
The Perversity of the Modern Mind289

4. Greeks, Greece and Byzantium.....298

Patrick White, the Pureness of Heart of the Greek Archetype and Byzantine History299

George Johnston's Greece and the Myth of an Emotional and Spiritual Refuge.....304

David Malouf: Greek Beginnings and Ends from an Australian Perspective307

5. Conclusion:

A Dialogue of Stereotypes Revealing the Development of the Australian Perception on the Basis of Intertextual Alterity.....313

Bibliography317

The Theoretical Background.....317

Primary Sources, Australian.....322

Primary Sources, Other than Australian328

Bibliographical and Reference Aids330

General Historical, Socio-Cultural and Literary Studies332

Secondary Sources on Henry Handel Richardson342

Secondary Sources on Martin Boyd344

Secondary Sources on Christina Stead345

Secondary Sources on Patrick White.....346

Other Sources349