

China's Agricultural Modernization

THE SOCIALIST MECHANIZATION SCHEME

ON KIT TAM

University of New South Wales, Duntroon

CROOM HELM

London • Sydney • Dover, New Hampshire

CONTENTS

List of Tables and Figures
Abbreviations
Introduction	1
1. CONCEPTS AND BACKGROUND	5
Basic Objective of China's Development	6
Explanatory Notes on Some Concepts and Definitions	8
Public Ownership	9
Economic Methods versus Administrative Methods	9
'To Respect and to Realise the Party's
Rural Economic Policies'	10
The Technological Problems for China's Agricultural
Development	11
Impact of Mechanization on the Production
Possibilities in Agriculture	12
The Demand for Agricultural Mechanization	16
Conclusion	18
2. AGRICULTURAL MECHANIZATION PRIOR TO THE
FOURTH FIVE-YEAR PLAN	23
1949-1956: Collectivization versus Mechanization:
Paths to 'Socialist' Agriculture	24
1957-1959: New Experiment in Rural
Development	27
1960-1965: Searching for Ways to Develop
Agriculture on a Preferential Basis	32
1966-1970: Revival of 'Mass Movement' and
'Self Reliance'	37
Conclusion	44

3.	POLICIES ON AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT AND AGRICULTURAL MECHANIZATION IN THE FOURTH FIVE-YEAR PLAN PERIOD: AN OVERVIEW .....	49
	Developments in Economic and Agricultural Policies .....	49
	The Primacy of Grain Production .....	51
	Development of Policies on Agricultural Mechanization .....	52
	The 1971 National Conference on Agricultural Mechanization .....	53
	Consolidation from 1972 to 1974 .....	54
	The Emergence of Agricultural Mechanization as a Major Policy Instrument for Agricultural Development in 1975 .....	56
	Conclusion .....	58
4.	TRENDS IN THE PRODUCTION OF AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY .....	61
	Priorities for Mechanizing Agricultural Operations .....	61
	Estimation of Agricultural Machinery Outputs .....	64
	The Supply of Attachments and Repair Services .....	77
	Production of Attachments and Spare Parts for Agricultural Machines .....	77
	The Provision of Repair and Maintenance Services .....	80
	The Pursuit of Self-Reliance in Agricultural Machinery Production .....	84
	Development of Self-Reliance in Local Production .....	84
	The Collaborative Production Schemes .....	88
	Conclusion .....	92
5.	CONTROL AND MANAGEMENT OF AGRICULTURAL MECHANIZATION .....	99
	Control Mechanism for the Flow of Inputs and Goods for Agricultural Mechanization .....	100
	Control over Flow of Material Inputs .....	100
	The Allocation and Distribution of Agricultural Machinery .....	107
	Financial and Credit Controls on Agricultural Mechanization .....	108

Indirect Controls over Rural Collectives'
Ability to Pursue Agricultural
Mechanization .....	113
Management of Agricultural Machinery in the Commune .....	118
Conclusion .....	125
6. FINANCING THE MECHANIZATION OF
AGRICULTURE .....	130
Maintenance of Accumulation .....	131
Mechanism for Accumulation Within the
Commune System .....	133
Direct Informal Actions .....	133
Restraints on the Share of Distributable
Personal Income .....	140
Financing of Agricultural Mechanization
by the Rural Collectives .....	144
The Role of the Commune System in Financing
Agricultural Mechanization Investment .....	147
Sources of Collective Funds for Mechanization ..	148
. A Digression: Intra-Commune
Redistribution of Funds .....	149
. Rural Collective Enterprise and
Sideline Production .....	150
Control Mechanism Over Funds Generated by Rural
Collective Enterprises .....	154
The Microeconomic Aspects in the Financing of
Agricultural Mechanization .....	157
Conclusion .....	164
7. SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION .....	171
APPENDIX A .....	179
APPENDIX B .....	187
List of Chinese Publishers .....	196
List of Chinese Periodicals and Newspapers .....	197
Bibliography .....	198
Index .....	234