

Market socialism or the restoration of capitalism?

---

Edited by

Anders Åslund

Stockholm Institute of Soviet and East European Economics

Cambridge University Press

Cambridge

New York Port Chester

Melbourne Sydney

Contents

---

Notes on contributors	page ix
Introduction Anders Åslund	1
Part I Market socialism revisited
1 The compatibility of planning and market reconsidered WLODZIMIERZ BRUS	7
2 Market socialism: the model that might have been but never was DOMENICO MARIO NUTI	17
3 Monetary-fiscal management for macroeconomic equilibrium and growth GERHARD FINK	32
Part II Economic thinking and policy-making
4 The possible new role of market and planning in Poland and Hungary JAN ADAM	47
5 Rationalizing the centrally managed economy: the market PEKKA SUTELA	67
6 Changes in Soviet economic policy-making in 1989 and 1990 ANDERS ÅSLUND	92
7 The restructuring of Soviet industrial ministries since 1985 STEPHEN FORTESCUE	121

Part III Effects of perestroika on Soviet life

8	Employment and the reallocation of labour in the USSR SHEILA MARNIE	145
9	Changes in income inequality in the USSR HENRYK FLAKIERSKI	172
10	Estonia's economic development 1940–1990 in comparison with Finland JAN ÅKE DELLENBRANT	194
	Index	209