

THE ART OF ADAPTATION

TURNING FACT AND FICTION
INTO FILM

LINDA SEGER

AN OWL BOOK

HENRY HOLT and COMPANY NEW YORK

---

CONTENTS

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Preface                                   | xi  |
| Introduction: Turning Fact and Fiction into Film | 1   |
| Part One: What's the Problem?             | 11  |
| 1. Why Literature Resists Film                   | 13  |
| 2. Why Theatre Resists Film                      | 33  |
| 3. Why the True-life Story Resists Film          | 47  |
| 4. From Film into Film                           | 63  |
| Part Two: Creating the Second Original    | 75  |
| 5. Finding the Story                             | 77  |
| 6. Choosing the Characters                       | 118 |

---

CONTENTS

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 7. Exploring the Theme  | 138        |
| 8. Creating and Shading Style, Mood, and Tone   | 156        |
|   |            |
| Part Three: Twice Told—Twice Sold  | 175 |
| 9. Optioning a Story  | 177        |
| 10. Writing a Docudrama for Television  | 206        |
|   |            |
| Afterword  | 219        |
| Winners of the Academy Award for Best Picture,1930–1990                                 | 221        |
| Winners of the Emmy Award for Outstanding Miniseriesand Drama/Comedy Special, 1977–1990 | 224        |
| Bibliography   | 226        |
| Index  | 229        |