

Africa and the North

Between globalization and marginalization

Edited by

Ulf Engel and Gorm Rye Olsen

Contents

Series editor's preface	ix
Notes on contributors	xi
1 Global politics and Africa – and Africa in international relations theory	1
ULF ENGEL AND GORM RYE OLSEN
2 The evolution of Africa's international relations	20
CHRISTOPHER CLAPHAM
3 France and sub-Saharan Africa: A privileged relationship	38
JEAN-FRANÇOIS MÉDARD
4 From Realpolitik to the Third Way: British African policy in the new world order	55
GORDON D. CUMMING
5 United States: The process of decision-making on Africa	74
DONALD ROTHCHILD AND NIKOLAS EMMANUEL
6 Japan: The tenor and the terrain of foreign policy towards Africa	92
BOLADE M. EYINLA
7 Germany: Between value-based solidarity and bureaucratic interests	108
ULF ENGEL

viii	Contents
8	The European Union: ‘European interests’, bureaucratic interests and international options	125
	GORM RYE OLSEN
9	The United Nations: A peripheral organization on the periphery of the world	142
	GORM RYE OLSEN
10	Africa and the North: Policy communities and different types of state – theoretical challenges	162
	ULF ENGEL AND GORM RYE OLSEN
	Index	172