

Just Talk

---

Gossip, Meetings, and Power
in a Papua New Guinea Village

Karen J. Brison

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS

Berkeley / Los Angeles / Oxford

Contents

---

MAPS AND FIGURES	xi
PLATES	xii
PREFACE	xiii
1
Gossip and Politics	1
Gossip and Reputation in an Inakor Meeting	5
Gossip, Reputation, and Politics in Inakor	10
Gossip and Power	11
Powerful Words	15
Talking Politics in Inakor and Asanakor	23
Big-Men and Small Communities	29
2
The Kwanga	34
Language	37
Subsistence	38
The Tambaran Cult	39
Recent History	40
Missionization, Schools, and the "Revival"	41
Local Government	43
"Business": Cash Cropping, Coffee Buying Cooperatives, and Trade Stores	44
Meetings	46
	vii

3
Gossip, Innuendo, and Sorcery: Power without Responsibility	47
Sorcery Talk	48
The Deaths of Naifuku and Ambusuroho	50
Murder and Conspiracy	61
The Benefits of Ambiguity	62
How the Truth Emerges: Gossip and Innuendo	66
Gossip, Innuendo, and Sorcery as a Political System	70
Ethnofunctionalism	73
Ambiguity and Power	74
4
Village Courts and the Art of Bluffing	78
Gossip, Innuendo, and Lies	79
Ekwa	80
The Adulterous Wife	80
An Insulting Remark Is Discussed in Mediation	81
A Discussion of an Alleged Threat from a Sorcerer	82
A Man Is Prosecuted for Spreading Rumors of Sorcery	83
A Rumor of Adultery	83
Gossip about an Affair	84
Dealing with Ambiguity	84
Social Pressures on Magistrates and Witnesses	86
Dealing with Disputes	88
Just Talk	90
5
Getting It All Out into the Open	94
Getting It All Out into the Open in Meetings	95
The Remarriage of the Widow Haumele	96
Disputes and the Fear of Covert Aggression	100
An Alleged Plot to Ensochel Gara	102
Rumors, Covert Violence, and the "Politics of Men"	106
The Destructive Potential of Rumor	109
The Asanakor Schoolgirl	110
Kichambwai's Inquest	112
Kimbasmwa's Death	113
Getting It All Out into the Open	116
6
Rivalry and Institutionalized Duplicity: The Sociology of Rumor	121
The Dual Structure: Crosscutting Moieties and Initiation Classes	122

Exchange Partners: How Conflict and Competition
Escalate	126
A Quarrel over House-Thatching	129
Moieties, Kin, and Competition	138
Rumors and Institutionalized Duplicity	139
The Kindred	140
Cross-Nepotic Relatives: Kandere	142
Close and Distant Kin	145
Two Categories of People	146
Stage Culture	148
The Role of Meetings	152
Institutionalized Duplicity in Melanesian Cultures	154
7
The Power of Stories	157
Background	159
The First Death	160
A Second Death	163
The Third Death	166
Telling Stories about Sorcery Deaths	168
Stories and the Construction of the Truth	170
Narrative and Society	178
8
Two Models of Government	181
Two Models	182
Gossip, Innuendo, and Sorcery: Power without Responsibility	183
Problems with the New Law	185
Conditions Underlying the Gossip, Innuendo, and Sorcery Model	187
9
Leadership, Authority, and "Egalitarianism"	189
The Bases of Hierarchy	190
Egalitarian Mechanisms	193
The Equality of Big-Men	200
Jealousy	201
Patrilineal Principles, Hierarchy, and Change	203
10
Leaders as Bad Men and Victims	207
The Contradictions of Leadership	209

A Comparative View: Ambivalence about Power and Small Communities	212
Strong Men, Autonomous Men, Big-Men: Stereotypes of Melanesian Leaders	219
The Death of George's Daughter: Leaders as Martyrs	222
The Dilemma of Leaders	229
The Attack on Sorcery	230
The Bittersweet Life of Intense Sociality and the Problem of Anger	233
Conclusion	236
11
Conclusions	239
Powerful Words in Pacific Societies	241
The Conversational Marketplace and Melanesian Politics	243
NOTES	247
REFERENCES	261
INDEX	277

Maps and Figures

---

Map 1: The Kwanga and surrounding groups	36
Map 2: The moieties of Inakor Village	123
Figure 1: The two brothers and their family	52
Figure 2: Fission of lineages A and B and adoptions of members	194
Figure 3: Lineage C	195
Figure 4: Adoptions of Hambamjeri's sons	197
Figure 5: Adoptions in lineage L	203
Figure 6: Lineage N	206