

HOMEGIRLS

Language and Cultural Practice
among Latina Youth Gangs

Norma Mendoza-Denton

Blackwell
Publishing

CONTENTS

List of Figures	viii
List of Tables	x
Acknowledgments	xi
Acknowledgment of Sources	xiv
Introduction	1
1 La Migra	10
2 Beginning Fieldwork	42
3 Norte and Sur: Government, School, and Research Perspectives	76
4 Hemispheric Localism: Language, Racialized Nationalism, and the Politicization of Youth	101
5 “Muy Macha”: Gendered Performances and the Avoidance of Social Injury	148
6 Smile Now Cry Later: Memorializing Practices Linking Language, Materiality, and Embodiment	176
7 Icons and Exemplars: Ethnographic Approaches in Variationist Sociolinguistics	207
8 Variation in a Community of Practice	230
9 “That’s the Whole Thing [tɪŋ]!”: Discourse Markers and Teenage Speech	265
10 Conclusion	292
References	297
Appendix	324
Index	328