

MUSIC AND NAZISM

Art under Tyranny, 1933–1945

Edited by
Michael H. Kater and Albrecht Riethmüller

LAABER

CONTENTS

Preface	7
Introduction	9
Michael H. Kater
Hitler's Wagner: Musical Discourse as Cultural Space	15
Hans Rudolf Vaget
The National Socialist Discussion on the 'German Quality' in Music	32
ℓ Bernd Sponheuer
The Distorted Sublime: Music and National Socialist Ideology – A Sketch	43
Reinhold Brinkmann
The Aesthetic Premises of a Nazi Conception of Music	64
Giselher Schubert
The Very German Fate of a Composer: Hans Pfitzner	75
Jens Malte Fischer
Musical Life in Berlin from Weimar to Hitler	90
Pamela M. Potter
»International with National Emphasis«: The Internationales Zeitgenössisches Musikfest in Baden-Baden, 1936–1939	102
Joan Evans
Hardly Heroes: Composers as a Subject in National Socialist Cinema	114
Guido Heldt

The Past and Present of Hausmusik in the Third Reich Celia Applegate	136
Wagner Research as 'Service to the People': The Richard-Wagner-Forschungsstätte , 1938–1945 Stephen McClatchie	150
Music Publishing and the Nazis: Schott, Universal Edition, and Their Composers Kim H. Kowalke	170
Stefan Wolpe: Broken Sequences Austin Clarkson	219
»In Which Camp is Austria?« The Fight against the Destruction of the New Music Claudia Maurer Zenck	241
The Swiss Music Scene in the 1930s: A Mirror of European Conditions? Theo Mäusli	258
Stefan Zweig and the Fall of the Reich Music Chamber President, Richard Strauss Albrecht Riethmüller	269
Verklärte Nacht: Denazifying Musicians under American Control David Monod	292
Contributors	315
Index	318