

GROWTH AND JUSTICE

Aspects of India's Development Experience

C.T. KURIEN

MADRAS
OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
DELHI BOMBAY CALCUTTA
1992

Contents

List of Tables	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xiv
Note on Chapter Origins	xv
PART ONE
GROWTH AND JUSTICE: THE PROBLEM DEFINED
Introduction	3
1. Development and the Livelihood of People	5
2. Reconciling Growth and Justice: Strategies versus Structure?	27
3. Planning and the Institutional Transformation of the Economy	50
PART TWO
A REVIEW OF ECONOMIC PERFORMANCE
Introduction	83
4. Indian Society: Past Trends and Future Prospects	85
5. The 1987-88 Budget and the New Fiscal Strategy	108
6. The Indian Economy in the 1980s and on to the 1990s	129
7. Decentralized Planning: The Indian Experience	157
8. The Future of Village Industries	186
PART THREE
SOME UNDERLYING THEORETICAL ISSUES
Introduction	219
9. State and Market in Economic Processes: Some Basic Issues	221
10. A Systemic Perspective of the Marketization Process	255
Bibliography	283
Index	291