

THE SPIRIT OF FREEDOM

South African Leaders on Religion and Politics

CHARLES VILLA-VICENCIO

With a Foreword by Thomas G. Karis

Interviews with Neville Alexander,
Ray Alexander, Franz Auerbach, Cheryl Carolus,
Frank Chikane, Sheena Duncan,
Ela Gandhi, Nadine Gordimer, Chris Hani,
Trevor Huddleston, Nelson Mandela,
Govan Mbeki, Fatima Meer, Stanley Mogoba,
Ruth Mompati, Itumeleng Mosala,
Beyers Naudé, Ebrahim Rasool,
Albertina Sisulu, Joe Slovo, Desmond Tutu

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS
Berkeley Los Angeles London

CONTENTS

xiii

Foreword

by Thomas Karis

xxv

Acknowledgements

xxvii

Introduction

2

NEVILLE ALEXANDER

No Need for the God Hypothesis

20

RAY ALEXANDER

A Trade Unionist

32

FRANZ AUERBACH

A Jewish Humanist

46

CHERYL CAROLUS

Struggle not Politics

60

FRANK CHIKANE

Spirituality and Struggle

74

SHEENA DUNCAN

Surprised by Joy

90

ELA GANDHI

A Hindu and a Socialist

102

NADINE GORDIMER

A Vocation to Write

114

CHRIS HANI

Almost a Priest

130
TREVOR HUDDLESTON
The Dauntless One

144
NELSON MANDELA
Liberation Not Power

158
GOVAN MBEKI
Promoting the Human Project

174
FATIMA MEER
A Muslim and a Woman

186
STANLEY MOGOBA
Committed to Peace

198
RUTH MOMPATI
A Mother and a Daughter of Africa

208
ITUMELENG MOSALA
A Black Theologian

218
BEYERS NAUDÉ
An Afrikaner of Afrikaners

232
EBRAHIM RASOOL
The Two Worlds of Islam

246
ALBERTINA SISULU
A Woman of the Soil

260
JOE SLOVO
A Believing Unbeliever

274
DESMOND TUTU
Obedient to God

287
Afterword