
PRIVATE INTERESTS,
PUBLIC POLICY, AND AMERICAN
AGRICULTURE

WILLIAM P. BROWNE

UNIVERSITY PRESS OF KANSAS

Contents

Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xvii
1. INTRODUCTION	1
Why Agriculture as a Policy Arena?	3
Purpose of the Book	6
The Following Chapters	12
2. THE AGRICULTURAL LOBBY	14
Early Policy Context	14
The Nonpolicy Component	18
Lobbying and the Food and Fiber System	22
Who Matters Most in the 1980s?	28
Policy and Interests: Some Conclusions	38
3. THE POLICY PROCESS AND INTEREST REPRESENTATION	41
Lobbyists and the Policy Process	42
The Substance and Style of Lobbying	52
The Organization of Agricultural Interests	55
4. AGRARIAN PROTEST AND A GRASSROOTS LOBBY	64
with Mark Lundgren
The American Agriculture Movement	66
A Split in the Ranks	70
Proliferating Organizations and Farmer Services	72

A Strategy and Ideology of Protest	80
Media Sweethearts: Policy Implications	86
5. PRODUCERS IN WASHINGTON	89
What Is the Producer Lobby?	91
Issue Involvement	99
Policy Implications of a Fragmented Farm Lobby	106
6. AGRIBUSINESS: LOBBYING AND ADJUSTMENT	109
A Political Reticence?	111
Conflicting Interests	125
7. THE OTHER LOBBY: PRIVATE VIEWS WITH A PUBLIC INTEREST	130
The Emergence of an Ex/Al Lobby	132
Changes within the Ex/Al Lobby	138
Producer and Agribusiness Support	143
Creating a Policy Impact	146
8. CONSULTANTS AND EXPERTS	150
Using Consultants	151
Consultants as Technicians	153
Consultants as Political Operatives	155
Who Hires Consultants?	159
Agricultural Experts and Research Foundations	163
A Final Comment	166
9. COALITION POLITICS: DILEMMAS AND CHOICES	167
Coalition Benefits and Their Organizational Format	171
The Growth of Multiple-Interest Coalitions	180
Coalition Building	186
10. ISSUES, INTERESTS, AND PUBLIC OFFICIALS	191
Private Interests and Public Posturing	192
Being Involved	197
Measuring Policy Involvement	201
Summary Observations	211
11. PRIVATE INTERESTS AND THE FOOD SECURITY ACT OF 1985	213
Farm Bill Politics	214
The Setting for 1985 Legislation	217
Initial Stages: Academics and Agrarians	220
Regrouping: General Farm Organizations	223
Maintaining the High Ground: Commodity Groups	225
In and Out: Agribusiness Reformers	227

Other Parts of the Puzzle	230
Importance of Farm Bills	233
12. ON INFLUENCING PUBLIC POLICY	237
Agricultural Policymaking	237
Some Concerns about Group Theory	241
Managing the New Universe of Organized Interests	248
Appendix A. Respondent Organizations by Category	253
Appendix B. Interview Outline for Interest Respondents	257
Appendix C. Agricultural Policy Decisions, 1980–1985	259
Notes	264
Index	281