

Saving One's Own

Jewish Rescuers during the Holocaust

MORDECAI PALDIEL

The Jewish Publication Society
Philadelphia

Contents

List of Photographs	xi
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction	xvii
1. Germany and Austria: Outwitting the Nazis in Their Home Base	1
2. Poland: Rescue in the Deadliest Place in Europe	23
3. Lithuania and Belarus: Getting Out in Time, Refuge in Forest Lairs	74
4. Slovakia: Negotiating to Stop Deportations	100
5. Hungary: Zionist Diaspora Youth at Its Best, Some Debatable Rescue Undertakings	137
6. Croatia and Italy: Children on the Run	183
7. France: The Many Who Helped Save Most of the Country's Jews	201
8. Belgium: Organized Self-Help, Stopping a Deportation Train	265
9. The Netherlands: Pulling the Wool over the ss's Eyes, Hiding and a Run across Borders	287
10. Toward Palestine, the Land of Israel: Boat People on the Danube with the Connivance of the Nazis	316
11. Switzerland: Outstretched Hands from Nearby	345
12. Concentration Camps: Flight and Rescue from Hell on Earth and Challenging Himmler	370

13. England: A Rabbi and the Religious Obligation to Save	403
14. United States: Organizational Assistance amid Conflicting Agendas	414
Afterword	453
Notes	459
Bibliography	549
Index	565