

Capitalism, Competition and Economic Crisis:

Structural Changes in Advanced Industrialised Countries

---

Y.S. Brenner
Professor of Economics
University of Utrecht

---

KAPITAN SZABO PUBLISHERS
Washington, D.C.

Contents

---

Preface and Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction: The Demise of Old-style Capitalism	1
1 The Rise of Industrial Feudalism	10
1.1 Oligopoly and declining price competition	12
1.2 The decline of confidence and the spreading of corruption	13
1.3 The new feudal ranking of people	17
1.4 The hereditary element	19
1.5 Socialisation: The acquisition of wealth by ingenuity instead of force	22
1.6 The scientific élite that lost its soul	26
1.7 Frustrated students and repressive toleration	29
2 Growth, Income Distribution, and the Rise and Fall of Democratic Government	34
2.1 Saving, investment and economic growth	37
2.2 The 'New Deal' and the Keynesian revolution	40
2.3 The fall of liberal education and the 'soft death' of progressive democratic government	42
2.4 The role of the media in the decline of the holistic conception of society	47
2.5 Conclusions	50
3 The Economic Determinants of Investment	52
3.1 Trade cycles and secular trends	55
3.2 Induced and autonomous investment	57
3.3 Back to the 'two-pronged mechanism' model	62

3.4	Interest rates and the scramble for finance	69
3.5	Structural changes in investment and demand	71
3.6	Investment in depth	73
3.7	Changes in the distribution of employment between sectors	75
3.8	Conclusions	78
4	A Demand-side Approach to Full Employment	80
4.1	Equilibrium distribution	84
4.2	The changing demand for labour in agriculture, industry and services	87
4.3	Technological change and income distribution	91
4.4	The psychological determinants of social injustice and economic ruin	95
4.5	The service sector and rising government expenditure	100
4.6	The false analogy of the self-adjusting economic system	104
4.7	Some substantive reasons for reducing government expenditure	107
4.8	The financing of full employment and a note on deficit financing	112
5	A Brief Excursion into the History of Economic Growth	120
5.1	Export-stimulated growth: England from mercantilism to the industrial revolution	122
5.2	Export-stimulated growth: Japan the latecomer	126
5.3	Demand-stimulated growth: The USA from independence to the 'New Deal'	131
6	The Future of Economic Growth in Historical Perspective	139
6.1	Three scenarios: Laissez-faire , supply-side and Keynesian approaches	143
6.2	Economic paradigms: Why economists are 'blind'	150
6.3	Paradigm lost: The rise and fall of Keynesian economics	161
6.4	The power of multinationals and competition among producers	169

Contents

vii

6.5	Structural and cyclical causes of unemployment	176
6.6	Solutions not by economic means alone	184
7	Summary and Conclusions	197
	Notes	221
	Index	249