

The Armies of the Hasmonaeans and Herod

From Hellenistic to Roman Frameworks

by

Israel Shatzman

J.C.B. Mohr (Paul Siebeck) Tübingen

Contents

Preface	vii
Abbreviations	xi
List of Maps and Plates	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
Introduction	1

Part One:

The Hasmonaean Period

Chapter I: From Guerilla Tactics to Regular Army

1. Weapons and Tactics	11
2. Strength and Composition of the Hasmonaean Army	25

Chapter II: Fortifications

1. The Hellenistic Background	36
2. Judaea and Idumaea	43
3. Samaria	60
4. The Hellenistic Cities	72
5. Galilee	83
6. Transjordan	88
7. Conclusion	94

Chapter III: Hasmonaeans and Nabataeans

1. Early Times	98
2. Gaza and the Negev Sector	109
3. Transjordan	116

Part Two:
The Herodian Period

Chapter IV: Herod's Rise to Power

1. The Consequences of the Settlement of Pompeius129
2. From Strategos of Galilee to King of Judaea138
3. The Reconquest of Judaea by Herod (39–30 B.C.E.)150

Chapter V: The Herodian Army

1. Composition and Duties170
2. Strength and Tactics193

Chapter VI: Fortifications and Garrisons

1. Judaea217
2. Idumaea233
3. The Coastal Cities246
4. Samaria and Galilee254
5. Transjordan260
6. Conclusion265

Chapter VII: Herod and the Nabataeans

1. The Nabataeans in the First Century B.C.E.277
2. From Friendship to Open War.284
3. Transjordan291
4. The Balance of the Evidence299

Conclusion310

Bibliography317

Indexes333