CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables .................................................. xi
Introduction ........................................................................... XIII

HELEN HARDACRE

Section I. Defining Issues in the Study of Meiji Japan

What is Meiji? ................................................................. 3
IROKAWA DAIKICHI

What was Meiji? .............................................................. 5
MARIUS B. JANSEN

Meiji for Our Time ......................................................... 11
CAROL GLUCK

What is Meiji? ................................................................. 29
SARAH E. THAL

Section II. Arts and Society

The Formation of Artistic and Literary Canons

Some Reflections on the Formation of the Meiji Artistic Canon ................................. 35
CHRISTINE GUTH

Reflections on the Entrance of Fiction into the Meiji Literary Canon ......................... 42
JANET A. WALKER

Arts and the Nation

National Literature as Cultural Monument: Instituting Japanese National Community .... 45
MARK ANDERSON

Science, History, and Culture in the Late Meiji Period: Mori Rintarō’s Experiments .... 60
THOMAS LA MARRE

“Landscape” and the Nation-State: A Reading of Nihon fūkei ron ................................ 90
RICHARD OKADA
Four Characters in Search of Modernity

Flowers in the Dawn: Kawanabe Kyōsai and the Search for Modernity ........................................ 108
BRENDA G. JORDAN
Fukai Eigo and the Development of Japanese Monetary Policy ..................................................... 125
RICHARD J. SMETHURST
Iwanami Shigeo's Meiji Education: Encounters, Transmissions .................................................... 136
J. THOMAS RIMER
From Physician to Bureaucrat: The Case of Nagayo Sensai ......................................................... 151
ANN BOWMAN JANNETTA

Gender Politics and the Construction of the Body

Shimazaki Tōson's Hakai and Its Bodies .............. 161
MICHAEL K. BOURDAGHS
The Roles of the Actress in Modern Japan ...... 189
AYAKO KANO
Women in Gidayū during Meiji: Masters or Mistresses of the Tradition? ................................. 203
A. KIMI COALDRAKE
Internalizing Social Difference: Kanagaki Robun's Shanks' Mare to the Western Seas .......... 219
JOHN PIERRE MERTZ

Literary Representations of Self and National Identity

The Romantic Triangle in Meiji Literature ...... 229
KYOKO KURITA
Conceptions of Equality in Izumi Kyōka's Kechō 246
JOSEPH A. MURPHY
Picturing the State: A Semiotic Analysis of the Meiji Slogan .................................................. 270
CHARLES SHIRO INOUE
Section III. Politics and Polity

Meiji International Relations

Japan and the World ............................................. 285
MARIUS B. JANSEN
A Protonation-State and Its "Unforgettable Other": Prerequisites for Meiji International Relations ............................................. 293
HIROSHI MITANI
Local Implications for the End of Extraterritoriality in Japan: The Closing of the Foreign Settlement at Nagasaki ............................................. 311
LANE EARN
Revision of the Unequal Treaties and Abolition of Extraterritoriality ............................................. 320
LOUIS G. PEREZ

Meiji Japan and the Continent

Japanese Military Surveys of the Korean Peninsula in the Meiji Era ............................................. 335
YOUNG-WOO NAM
Changing Korean Perceptions of Japan on the Eve of Modern Transformation: The Case of Neo-Confucian Yangban Intellectuals ............................................. 343
CHAI-SIK CHUNG
Kano Naoki's Relationship to Kangaku ............................................. 358
JOSHUA A. FOGEL
Shigeno Yasutsugu as an Advocate of "Practical Sinology" in Meiji Japan ............................................. 373
DE-MIN TAO

State Expansion and Social Response

Meiji Polity in View of the Land Tax Reform ... 383
YONGDEOK KIM
"Poor Peasant, Poor Country!" The Matsukata Deflation and Rural Distress in Mid-Meiji Japan ............................................. 387
STEVEN J. ERICSON
Political Ideologies of the Early Meiji Parties ... 397
KYU HYUN KIM

Divine Destruction: The Shinpūren Rebellion of 1876 ......................................................... 408
JOHN M. ROGERS

Re-thinking the Center-Periphery Paradigm: Local Politics in Meiji Japan

The Meandering Meaning of Local Autonomy:
Bosses, Bureaucrats, and Toyama's Rivers ..... 440
MICHAEL LEWIS

Local Citizens or Loyal Subjects? Enlightenment Discourse and Educational Reform ..... 451
MARK E. LINCICOME

Kanazawa City Politics ......................................... 466
JAMES L. MCCLAIN

Moving into the City: Yoshino Taizō and the Incorporation of the Tama Districts into Tokyo in 1893 ............................................. 476
M. WILLIAM STEELE

Contesting Centralization?/Space, Time, and Hegemony in Meiji Japan .................. 485
JEFFREY E. HANES

Section IV. Subjects and Subjectivity

Buddhism and the Meiji State

On the Suppression of Buddhism ................. 499
TAMAMURO FUMIO

The Buddhist Cleric as Japanese Subject:
Buddhism and the Household Registration
System ................................................................. 506
RICHARD JAFFE

Hokkaido Buddhism and the Early Meiji State 531
JAMES EDWARD KETELAAR

Meiji Publishing and the Production of Texts

Ideologies of Novelty and Agedness: Narrating the Origins of the Meiji Nation .......... 549
CHRISTOPHER L. HILL
Commercialization and the Changing World of the Mid-Meiji Press ........................................ 562
JAMES L. HUFFMAN
Tale as Text: Sokkibon in the Diet Library Collection ......................................................... 581
J. SCOTT MILLER
Entrepreneurship and Culture: The Hakubunkan Publishing Empire in Meiji Japan .......... 590
GILES RICHTER

Assimilation and Discrimination in Meiji Japan

Discrimination in Modern Japan ......................... 603
MASAKI HIROTA
The Meiji State and the Logic of Ainu “Protection” ................................................................. 612
DAVID L. HOWELL
Meiji Assimilation Policy in Okinawa: Promotion, Resistance, and “Reconstruction” ........ 635
STEVE RABSON

Mutual Representations and Constructions of Self and Other

The Ainu Colonization and the Development of “Agrarian Japan”—A Symbolic Interpretation ................................................................. 656
EMIKO OHNUKI-TIERNEY
Yokohama-e and Kaika-e Prints: Japanese Interpretations of Self and Other from 1860 through the 1880s ......................................................... 676
KEIKO SUZUKI
Colonial Subject as Other: An Analysis of Late Meiji Travelogues on Korea ..................... 688
SEUNG-MI HAN

Spatial Practices in Meiji Japan: Hospitals, Prisons, Museums, and Fairs

Contemplating Places: The Hospital as Modern Experience in Meiji Japan .................... 702
SUSAN L. BURNS
Visions of Modern Space: Expositions and Museums in Meiji Japan .......................... 719
KENTARO TOMIO
Spatial Configuration and Subject Formation: The Establishment of the Modern Penitentiary System in Meiji Japan .................................. 734
NAOYUKI UMEMORI

Index ................................................................................................................................. 768

Figures
List of Contributors