

HIDDEN IN PLAIN SIGHT

JEWS AND JEWISHNESS IN BRITISH FILM, TELEVISION, AND POPULAR CULTURE

EDITED BY NATHAN ABRAMS

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY PRESS | EVANSTON, ILLINOIS

CONTENTS

- Acknowledgments* vii
- Introduction
Nathan Abrams 3
- “Awaiting, with Some Anxiety”: The Jewish Response to Jew Süss (1934)
in 1930s Britain
Gil Toffell 29
- An Anti-Nazi Special Relationship: British Writing, Hollywood Filmmaking, and The Mortal Storm (1940)
Phyllis Lassner and Alexis Pogorelskin 49
- Mr. Emmanuel* (1944): A Belated British Film about Nazi Antisemitism
Lawrence Baron 69
- Jewish Questions Lurking in Peeping Tom (1960)
Michael Berkowitz 91
- “You Don’t Cure a Problem by Sweeping It under the Carpet”: Jews, Sitcoms, and Race Relations in 1960s Britain
Gavin Schaffer 115
- From The Evacuees to Grandma’s House: Class, Sexuality, and Jewish Identity on British Television, 1975–2012
Rachel Garfield 137
- Peckhlach*: Mike Leigh’s British Jewish Soul
Donald Weber 157
- From Pig Farmer to Infidel: Hidden Identities, Diasporic Infertility, and Transethnic Kinship in Contemporary British Jewish Cinema
Claudia Sternberg 181
- On the Threshold: British Jewish Femininity in Suzie Gold (2004)
Michele Byers 205

Christmas Trees and Hanukkah Bushes: The “Emancipation Contract” in the Contemporary British Television Dramas Hebburn and Friday Night Dinner
Sue Vice 227

Love and Betrayal: Politicized Romance in Peter Kosminsky’s
The Promise (2011)
Nir Cohen 253

Contributors 275

Index 279