

TRANS-HIMALAYAN TRADERS

Economy, Society, and Culture in Northwest Nepal

James F. Fisher

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS
Berkeley Los Angeles London

Contents

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xi
NOTE ON ORTHOGRAPHY	xiiiv
1. Introduction	1
The Research Problems	1
The Problems of Research	7
2. The Land and Its People	15
Dolpo District	15
Tichurong	20
Earlier Surveys and Exploration	27
History: Documentary and Conjectural	28
History: Mythical	35
Tarangpur and the World Beyond	43
3. Himalayan Farmers	46
The Problem of Surplus	46
The Lay of the Land	49
Size of Fields and Terraces	50
Land Measurements	53
Soil	54
Climate	55
Crops	56
Land Use and Yields	59
Consumption: Ideal and Real	60
Other Household Expenditures	62
Extent of the Surplus	65
Working Capital	69
The Surplus and Its Uses	71
Division of Labor	75
Allocation of Time	77
Social and Technological Consequences of the Division of Labor	79

Surplus and Demography	84
Surplus and Choice	85
4. Transactions: The Salt Circuit	87
The Demand for Salt	87
Exchange Ratios	88
The Cycle: Grain, Salt, and Rice	88
Salt and Social Relations	90
Culture: North and South	91
Impression Management	94
Goods and Symbols: Brokers and Blockers	95
A Tribe Pursued by Two Great Traditions	96
Decline of the Salt Circuit	97
5. Transactions: The Commodities Circuit	100
Elimination of the Middlemen	100
The Livestock Trade	101
The Woolen Trade	106
Traders and Non-Traders	110
The Other Side of the Mountains	115
The Commodities Trade	117
Participation in the Commodities Trade	121
Profits in the Commodities Trade	122
North from Tarangpur	124
Commodities and Choice	125
Comparisons with Thakalis and Others	127
The Two Circuits Compared	129
6. Control and Uses of Wealth: The Traditional Context	133
The Lust for Wealth	133
Devices for Storing Wealth	135
Control of Wealth and Inheritance	137
Ownership	140
Funds of Rent	143
The Ceremonial Fund	144
Investing in Merit	153
7. Transactions: The Village Context	156
Hierarchy	156
Politics	168
Politics and Trade	175

Hierarchy and Reciprocity	176
Exchange Labor	177
Village Solidarity	178
Jajmani	180
8. Summary and Conclusions: Ethnicity and Interaction	183
APPENDIXES	193
NOTES	205
BIBLIOGRAPHY	219
INDEX	225