

AFRICAN MEDIA AND THE DIGITAL PUBLIC SPHERE

Edited by

Okoth Fred Mudhai, Wisdom J. Tettey, and Fackson Banda

palgrave
macmillan

CONTENTS

List of Tables	vii
Preface	ix
Notes on Contributors	xiii
1 Introduction: New Media and Democracy in Africa—A Critical Interjection Fackson Banda, Okoth Fred Mudhai, and Wisdom J. Tettey	1
2 Implications for Africa of E-Gov Challenges for Giants South Africa and Nigeria Okoth Fred Mudhai	21
3 “Misclick” on Democracy: New Media Use by Key Political Parties in Kenya’s Disputed December 2007 Presidential Election George Nyabuga and Okoth Fred Mudhai	41
4 Repression, Propaganda, and Digital Resistance: New Media and Democracy in Zimbabwe Last Moyo	57
5 Democratic Process, Civic Consciousness, and the Internet in Francophone Africa Marie-Soleil Frère and Alain Kiyindou	73
6 Use of the Internet by NGOs to Promote Government Accountability: The Case of Egypt Khayrat Ayyad	89
7 ICTization beyond Urban Male Elites: Issues of Gender Equality and Empowerment Kutoma J. Wakunuma-Zojer and Patricia K. Litho	105
8 ICTs, Youths, and the Politics of Participation in Rural Uganda Carol Azungi Dralega	125

9	Transnationalism, the African Diaspora, and the Deterritorialized Politics of the Internet Wisdom J. Tettey	143
10	Globalization from below? ICTs and Democratic Development in the Project “Indymedia Africa” Fabian Frenzel and Sian Sullivan	165
11	New Public Spheres: The Digital Age and Big Brother Keyan G. Tomaselli and Ruth E. Teer-Tomaselli	183
12	Popular Music, New Media, and the Digital Public Sphere in Kenya, Côte d’Ivoire, and Nigeria George Ogola, Anne Schumann, and Michael Olatunjo	203
13	News Media Use of ICTs amidst War, Violence, and Political Turmoil in the Central African Great Lakes Marie-Soleil Frère	223
14	Conflict Coverage in a Digital Age: Challenges for African Media Rune Ottosen and Okoth Fred Mudhai	239
	Index	255