

ALTERNATIVE STRATEGIES FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Keith Griffin

*Professor and Chairman, Economics Department
University of California, Riverside*

M
MACMILLAN

in association with the OECD Development Centre

CONTENTS

Foreword	iii
List of Tables	vii
List of Figures	viii
Preface	ix
Chapter 1. DEVELOPMENT IN HISTORICAL CONTEXT	1
Growth rates in the Third World, yesterday and today	3
A comparison with the rich countries	6
Social indicators of development	7
Poverty and inequality	10
The distribution of income	14
Building new nations	18
Chapter 2. MANY PATHS TO DEVELOPMENT	24
A classification of strategies	25
A few methodological issues	32
Chapter 3. MONETARISM	37
Price formation and economic efficiency	42
Key prices and price distortions	44
The monetarist reforms in Chile	50
Monetarism in Argentina	59
Conclusions	63
Chapter 4. THE OPEN ECONOMY	68
Government intervention and endogenous distortions	70
Policy-imposed distortions	71
Exports and growth	72
Arithmetical implications of an open economy	75
Growth and change in the world economy	77
International capital movements	82
The international migration of labour	85
Evidence from some countries	89
Conclusions	93
Chapter 5. INDUSTRIALISATION	100
Industry in the Third World	102
Third World manufacturing in a global context	104
Three approaches to industrialisation	109
Brazil: from import substitution to exports of manufactures	114
India: the State, capital goods and self-reliance	117
South Korea: planned exports of manufactures	121
Conclusions	126

Chapter 6.	THE GREEN REVOLUTION STRATEGY	132
	Poverty and prices	136
	Productivity and the size of farm	141
	The early green revolution.....	144
	Agricultural growth and rural poverty in India	147
	A complete strategy of agriculture-led development	151
	Miracle rice in the Philippines	153
	Recent policy reforms in Bangladesh	156
	Conclusions	159
Chapter 7.	REDISTRIBUTIVE STRATEGIES	164
	Redistribution on the margin	168
	Redistribution of productive assets	171
	Alternative paths to satisfying basic needs	177
	Redistributive strategies in practice	179
	The flawed strategy in Sri Lanka	181
	Summary	188
Chapter 8.	SOCIALIST STRATEGIES OF DEVELOPMENT	194
	Four strategies	201
	The Chinese challenge to Soviet orthodoxy	205
	The strategy of self-reliance: the case of North Korea	208
	Investment and industrial production	210
	Socialist agriculture in practice	212
	Social services and the distribution of income	216
	Conclusions	220
Chapter 9.	THE STRATEGIES COMPARED	226
	Resource utilisation and the level of income	228
	Savings, investment and growth	230
	Human capital formation	232
	Poverty and inequality	234
	The role of the state	236
	Participation, democracy and freedom	240
	Bibliography of works cited	243
	Index	260