

BEYOND RHETORIC AND REALISM IN ECONOMICS

Towards a reformulation of economic methodology

Thomas A. Boylan and Paschal F. O’Gorman

London and New York

CONTENTS

Preface	viii
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1
1 PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE AND ECONOMICS: Methodological perspectives	8
2 RHETORIC: The abandonment of methodology?	36
3 CONTEMPORARY PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE: Methodology revisited	61
4 SCIENTIFIC REALISM: Methodology reinstated	83
5 THE PLAUSIBILITY OF ECONOMIC ASSUMPTIONS: Realist perspectives	108
6 CONSTRUCTIVE EMPIRICISM: The challenge to scientific realism	130
7 TOWARDS A RECONSTRUCTION OF ECONOMIC METHODOLOGY: The emergence of causal holism	156
8 FROM FRIEDMAN TO KALDOR: A causal holist critique of the methodology of neoclassical economics	184
9 CAUSAL HOLISM: Beyond rhetoric and realism	205
Bibliography	215
Index	226