

Reading Heresy

---

Religion and Dissent in Literature and Art

Edited by
Gregory Erickson and Bernard Schweizer

DE GRUYTER

Table of Contents

Bernard Schweizer

Preface — VII

Gregory Erickson, Bernard Schweizer

Introduction — 1

I. Heresy and Modern Literature

Gregory Erickson

Heresy and the Modernist Imagination — 21

Mark Hama

“No, I better not say it. I might get punished”: Misotheism and Self-Creation in Tomás Rivera’s ... And the Earth Did Not Devour Him — 35

Thomas J. J. Altizer

The Absolute Heterodoxy of William Blake — 51

II. Medieval Heresy

Natalie Calder

Unbelief and the Problem of Heresy: A Late Medieval Context — 67

Kathryn Green

The Joys of Heresy: Benefits for Women in Medieval Heretical Sects — 83

III. Heretical Theology

John Daniel Holloway, III

Saint Augustine: The Neoplatonic Father of Heretical Orthodoxy — 103

Jordan E. Miller

Making the World: Against Spirituality — 117

Bernard Schweizer

The Heresy of Humor: Theological Responses to Laughter — 135

IV. From the Creators: The Artists' Corner

James Morrow

The Novelist as Heretic — 149

Susan Hannon

Beautiful Heresy: A Visual Artist's Re-appropriation of Scripture — 165

Tasha Golden

Pop Heresy: Songwriting at the Edge of the Speakable — 175

Stanton Wood

Adapting Candide for the Stage — 185

Gregory Erickson

Epilogue: Heretical Unmaking — 201

Notes on the Contributors — 209

Index — 213